

Washington — The President's battle with the judiciary is due for a thorough lambasting at this year's convention of the American Bar Association in Kansas City, September 26-30.

Every one of the guest speakers is a militant anti-New Dealer and hot foe of the court reorganization plan. Last year Attorney General Homer Cummings and able-hardworking Solicitor General Stanley Reed addressed the ABA. But this year no Administrationite is on the program.

Heading the list of speakers is Willis Van Devanter, whose resignation from the Supreme Court played an important role in the defeat of the President's bill. Senator Burton K. Wheeler, generalissimo of the Senate opposition, will be the high light of the annual banquet. The two other featured orators are former Senator James A. Reed, who bolted to London in 1936, and Frank J. Hogan, chief defense counsel in the Teapot Dome scandal suits and, recently, attorney for Andrew W. Mellon in his tax evasion battle with the government.

Harem Merry-Go-Round
How a merry-go-round was sold to the Sultan of Java for $16,000 is related in a lively story written by WPA relief writers for the State Guide of Kansas.

They uncovered the tale while digging into the lore of historic Leavenworth, Kansas. The Sultan, while visiting the State in 1916, was immensely intrigued by a merry-go-round operated by a touring carnival show. What particularly interested him was the fact that it had 48 wooden horses, the exact number of wives in his harem back home in Java.

He approached the show owner and explained he was interested in buying the carousel as a means of keeping the ladies of the harem entertained and thus prevent quarrelling. The owner said he would sell for $16,000 and the Sultan promptly closed the deal.

National Income
Assistant Secretary of Commerce Ernest G. Draper predicts a national income this year of $70,000,000,000.

This would be $8,000,000,000 more than last year and $11,000,000,000 over the record all-time high in 1929. Draper's estimate is unofficial and is based on confidential monthly reports.

For some reason the Commerce Department is very secretive about these tabulations. On the other hand, the Department of Agriculture, which does not issue the official annual income computation, does not hesitate to publish monthly statistics.

According to its calculations the national income for the past seven months was $40,000,000,000 as compared with $35,000,000,000 for the same period last year. These figures are approximately in line with Draper's prediction.

White House Furniture
According to Mrs. Roosevelt, refurnishing the White House, or even making very small changes in its furniture, is "not a thing which you can go about lightly."

Explaining to friend not long ago how she was getting four new chairs for the Red Room, Mrs. Roosevelt said:

"You see, anything which is to remain definitely in the White House must have the approval not only of the Fine Arts Commission, but also must be bolstered by an act of Congress."

Paid Romeos
Girls no longer need be lonely in Washington—if they have the price. In a smart section of the Capital an office has been opened where women may rent a "date" for the evening.

The arrangement is a strictly business transaction. Known as the National Escort Bureau, the firm provides handsome, reputable young college men for any service ranging from dancing to pall bearing.

Most of the patrons of the Bureau are government clerks who want a date and are willing to pay for it. Girls call up on the telephone, indicate their preference in age, height, and complexion, and what they would like to do for the evening.

The fee scale is $5 for the first three hours, and $2.50 an hour thereafter. If, however, dinner, jacket or "tails," is required the rate is $10 for the first three hours.

The Bureau takes pride in the calibre of its escorts. They are college students or college graduates with jobs. Customers may have their pick of heights, ranging from 5 feet 4 inches to 6 feet 3 inches, or ages ranging from 19 to 39.

FOUR POWERS TO STAMP OUT PIRATE SUBS

Turkey, Greece Will Assist Britain And France

BULLETIN

London, Sept. 9.—(AP)—The 1019-ton British freighter Stanwood reported she was captured by a Spanish insurgent war vessel in the Bay of Biscay. Lloyd's disclosed today.

The marine underwriters said a message from the Stanwood reported she was seized about 10 P. M. last night within Spanish territorial waters near Ribadassella, on the north coast of Spain, about 30 miles east of Gijon, a government-held port.

Paris, Sept. 9.—(AP)—French foreign office officials said tonight they had received assurances that Britain and two other powers were willing to co-operate with France in a Mediterranean warship patrol under orders to "sink submarine attackers."

The foreign office hastily drafted plans for the naval patrol which it expected tomorrow's Mediterranean "piracy conference" to adopt.

Refusal of Germany and Italy to take part in the conference, to be held in Switzerland, prompted formulation of the plan.

Under the proposal an international fleet composed of British, French, Turkish and Greek vessels would sink any submarine or warship attacking neutral merchantmen.

British officials were known to be in agreement with the plan. Greek and Turkish assurance that their warships would co-operate was received today.

If Germany and Italy had decided to attend the conference, France and Britain would have asked for establishment of zones in which no submarines could operate.

Since neither Germany nor Italy plans to attend, Paris and London agreed that punitive, rather than preventive, measures must be taken against shipping attacks which have grown out of the Spanish civil war.

TO USE WARSHIPS

London, Sept. 9.—(AP)—France and Great Britain refused to take part in a Mediterranean "anti-piracy" conference today with new determination to use their warships to prevent attack on shipping.

Both the British and French also insisted the conference in Switzerland tomorrow would achieve definite results—despite refusal of Fascist powers to take part.

Even as the Fascist powers refused to parley, the French navy ministry ordered another destroyer division to be ready to rush to the Mediterranean.

The Italo-German rejection was a blow to British and French hopes for a peaceful solution of the crisis which grew out of the Spanish civil war.

It was a slap at Soviet Russia. Moscow had accused Italy of torpedoing two Soviet freighters in the eastern Mediterranean. The charge threatened a diplomatic

Leash for Tommy

Fond du Lac, Wis., Sept. 9.—(AP)—The Earl Barber family is considering the advisability of putting a leash on Tommy, three-month-old pet kitten.

When Tommy disappeared someone suggested he might have crawled into a hole in the bottom of the davenport. Matches used to explore the cavity set the davenport afire. Water liberally poured on the blaze soaked most of the room. The fire department was called.

When the excitement abated Tommy was found nestling on a bedroom chair.

American Flier to Be Exchanged, Spanish Rebel Leader Promises

Burgos, Spain, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Harold Dahl, 28 year old Champaign, Ill., captive aviator who is under sentence of death, told the Associated Press today that insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco has promised his release.

The promise was made to Dahl's bride of less than a year, who is now living at Cannes, France, Dahl was informed.

The insurgent chieftain assured her Dahl would be released as an exchange prisoner, the young flyer learned.

A personal letter from Mrs. Dahl direct to the Generalissimo, enclosing her picture, did what official negotiations were not able to accomplish.

Cooperates

CHESTER BARRIAGE

Exalted Ruler of Dixon lodge No. 779, B. P. O. Elks, who is cooperating wholeheartedly in the free clinic for crippled children of Lee, Oak and surrounding counties to be held at the Dixon Elks club Thursday, Oct. 7. Mr. Barriage asks the cooperation of every member of the lodge in this worthy project.

MISTRESS OF SLAIN YOUTH ASKS PARDON

Iselin, N. J., Sept. 9.—(AP)—Margaret Brennan, 20 and pretty, murmured a hope for the law's "forgiveness" today as she sat in a jail cell, held without bail on a charge of slaying Paul Reeves, climaxing an illicit romance.

A profession of unshaken love for the slain man came from his widow, attractive Myra Reeves, 24. "I don't care what he did. I loved him and I love him now," police quoted her as saying as she prepared to bury her 25 year old husband.

Police Chief George E. Keating said Miss Drennan confessed shooting Reeves in his home Tuesday night when he insisted on carrying on their illicit relations after she told him she feared she was pregnant.

Her counsel, David I. Stepacoff, said "I am satisfied that we have a complete defense, moral and legal, against any charge of murder." His client's chief hope, he said, rested on ability to establish pregnancy.

Reeves, a mill worker, will be buried Saturday in Kenilworth after services in the brown, five-room bungalow where he lived with his wife and children, Paul, 5, and Emma, 2.

Drag Illinois River For Banker Thought Suicide

Peoria, Ill., Sept. 9.—(AP)—Sheriff's officers dragged the Illinois river today for the body of Benjamin R. Belsley, 54-year-old banker, who they said committed suicide and left a note blaming market speculations.

President of the Roanoke (Ill.) State Bank, 40 miles east of here, Belsley was considered wealthy by friends. Mrs. Anna Shields, vice-president of the bank, was quoted by Sheriff Marcus Olson as saying "his purchases of wheat were terrific." Olson said he bought 270,000 bushels in one transaction.

Belsley's clothing was found last night in a rowboat floating on the river near shore. One of his three sisters identified a note found in his automobile as being in his handwriting. Olson said the three-page letter said Belsley admitted he appropriated bonds of the bank for stock and grain speculations "in an effort to pay off the waived deposits," but that the "speculations went against me."

DIED IN AMBULANCE

Chester, Ill., Sept. 9.—(AP)—M. Martin, Tusculuma, Ala., truck driver, died yesterday en route to a hospital after his truck and a Missouri Pacific freight train collided on route 3 near here. The crash occurred at the foot of a long winding hill.

MILD EPIDEMIC OF DYSENTERY AT STATE HOSPITAL

Infection Did Not Originate In Hospital Dr. Murray Says

A mild epidemic of bacillary dysentery among patients of the Dixon state hospital has caused about 30 deaths in the last ten months and 81 cases were today receiving special treatment in two cottages that have been designated for the centralization of affected patients. Dr. Louis E. Bloch, toxicologist of Chicago, has been assigned to the Dixon institution and was here today conducting a survey.

Dr. Warren G. Murray, managing officer at the Dixon state hospital stated that the infection had been prevalent among a certain type of patients since the first of the year. Its appearance was noted upon receipt of a group of youthful patients who were classified as being of a low type, mentally and physically. The dysentery has spread to others of this group, which brought about a mild epidemic and the segregation of all cases into two ward cottages.

About 200 Cases

The increase in the number of cases resulted in the assignment to the Dixon institution by the department of public welfare of the specialist. It was reported today that more than 200 cases had been discovered in the institution, which had caused about 30 deaths and 81 patients were receiving special treatment in the two quarantined cottages.

Dr. Murray stated that the opening of new cottages, now under construction at the institution was awaited to remedy present crowded conditions and this was expected to materially lessen the number of cases. In commenting upon the condition, Dr. Murray said:

"Bacillary dysentery does not originate in the institution, but originates among new and incoming patients. A type of child patients of a low mental grade and equally low in physical condition have been infected. Today a group of 81 of this type of patients is receiving the special treatment in two of the cottages which have been designated for this specific purpose."

Lee M. Gentry is Named on Illinois Soil Saving Board

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 9.—(AP)—Appointment of three agricultural leaders completed today the membership of the state soil conservation board created by the legislature.

Named by Governor Horner to help administer the soil conservation act, part of the federal farm program, were:

Lee M. Gentry of Oregon, chairman of the Illinois agricultural conservation committee and manager of former Governor Lowden's Sinnissippi farm.

Earl C. Smith of Detroit, president of the Illinois Agricultural Association.

E. A. Eckert of Mascoutah, master of the state grange. They will serve two year terms without salaries. Ex officio members of the board are Chairman J. H. Lloyd, state director of agriculture, and Dean H. W. Mumford of the state college of agriculture.

The state board will supervise the proposed local soil conservation districts, which can be set up if 75 per cent of the land owners approve.

AFTER IOWA'S LAURELS

Albertville, Ala., Sept. 9.—(AP)—San Mountain claimed to rival Iowa today as the place "where the tall corn grows."

J. J. Benford, editor of the Albertville Herald, reported that Noah Hall, farmer of this north-east Alabama mountain area, had taken from his field a corn stalk measuring 16 feet 10 1/2 inches.

Former Polio Victims Are Called Upon To Donate Blood for Serum Supply

More Clinics Also Planned For War On Disease

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 9.—(AP)—The state asked more former victims of infantile paralysis to donate their blood for convalescent serum in fighting the current epidemic.

Dr. Frank J. Jirka, state health director, asked blood donors to report at bleeding clinics to be held at LaSalle next Tuesday afternoon and at Rockford the following day.

Serum from the blood of former victims, if injected promptly after the first symptoms of the disease, often saves lives and frequently prevents paralysis. Dr. Jirka said in urging that the state's supply be replenished immediately.

The health department received overnight report of nine new paralysis cases outside Chicago—three in suburban Cook county, two in McHenry and one each in Crawford, LaSalle, Rock Island and Winnebago counties.

For five days, Friday through Tuesday, 52 cases were reported today from Chicago.

In announcing plans for the additional clinics, Dr. Jirka said:

Wants Blood Donations
"All persons who meet the qualifications and who reside within 100 miles of Rockford or LaSalle are urged to present themselves and contribute blood for the humane purpose of preventing paralysis in the new victims of poliomyelitis."

The LaSalle clinic will be held Tuesday at 1 P. M. at St. Mary's hospital. That at the Rockford hospital is scheduled for 9 A. M. Wednesday.

So that no time would be lost, Jirka broadcast instructions to health officers, physicians and medical services as to how health department officials could be immediately reached by telephone or messengers at night when serum or medical aid is needed.

POLIO CONFERENCE

Chicago, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Leading physicians and pediatricians were summoned to the city hall today for a second conference on prevention and treatment of infantile paralysis as 11 new cases brought to 216 the total for the current outbreak.

No deaths were reported but eight suspected cases were turned in to health authorities. So far 17 persons have died during the summer wave.

Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, board of health president, said the new figures indicated little change in the situation, although they compared favorably with yesterday's report of 19 new cases, the highest number for a single 24-hour period.

The doctors also planned to discuss arrangements for opening 50 emergency clinics for free administration of a newly-developed nasal spray to prevent affliction with the disease.

Dr. Frank Jirka, director of the state board of health, announced convalescent serum would be available 24 hours a day from the department's offices at Springfield.

Reports of four new cases in suburban Berwyn prompted Mayor Anton Janura to close schools there. They had opened for the fall term. Chicago public and a parochial schools were ordered to remain closed last week when health authorities characterized the condition as critical.

Former Dixonite Resident Passes Away In Freeport

Mrs. George Deland, 72, a former resident of Dixon, passed away suddenly at her home, 115 North Foley avenue, Freeport at midnight, the result of a stroke she had suffered a few hours previously. Funeral services will be held at the Eichmeier & Becker funeral home in Freeport at 2:00 o'clock Friday afternoon, and burial will be in Oakwood cemetery, Dixon, beside the body of her husband, who preceded her in death about two years ago.

Mrs. Deland, who was very active in Baptist church affairs in Freeport, is survived by a brother, Albert Chessman of Cedar Rapids, Ia., and a sister, Mrs. Walter Swartout of Chicago.

65 Retailers Are Prosecuted, Evaded Illinois Sales Tax

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 9.—(AP)—The finance department announced today that during August it started prosecutions against 65 retailers to collect $31,333 in evaded and delinquent sales tax returns. Prosecutions were started against firms at Rock Island, Rockford, Joliet, Peconia, Peoria, Virginia, Mokena, Crete, Lockport, Freeport, Galesburg, Robinson, Milan, Elmhurst and other municipalities.

Boosts Clinic

DR. H. J. MCCOY

President of the Lee County Medical Society, who has joined in the promotion of the free clinic for crippled children of Lee, Oak and surrounding counties at the Dixon Elks club Thursday, Oct. 7. The Grand lodge of Elks and the Illinois state department of health are also cooperating in this free clinic.

CONVICT SAYS HE MURDERED ALTON OFFICER

St. Louis, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Clyde Wagner, 23-year-old paroled Illinois convict, was arrested today by three St. Louis officers who said he confessed the slaying of Patrolman Addis Miller in Alton, Ill., July 22.

Wagner, driving an automobile which had been reported stolen, was forced to the curb in the South St. Louis brewery district by Motorcycle Patrolman Roland Farnsworth and Special Officers Cyrus Calloway and Edward Lange. He surrendered without resistance.

Wagner gave a fictitious name, but at police headquarters admitted his identity, the officers said, and made an oral statement admitting he shot and killed Miller.

In his statement, Wagner said Miller arrested him on suspicion and drove with him in his automobile to the Alton city hall. The officer got out first and held the door open for Wagner to follow.

"I reached under the floor mat and pulled out an automatic pistol," the officers quoted Wagner as saying. "I told Miller to give me the gun. He drew his gun and he fired at the street. I ran."

Blue-Gray Reunion Question Pending At G.A.R. Conclave

Madison, Wis., Sept. 9.—(AP)—The question of joining surviving Confederate soldiers in a reunion at Gettysburg next year remained to be settled today by veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic. Their program also included election of officers and selection of a 1938 encampment city.

The old soldiers, weary by their years and the exertion of an annual parade, failed to reach a decision on the proposed blue-gray reunion at a four-hour secret meeting yesterday.

The woman's relief corps, affiliate organization of the G. A. R., completed election of national officers late yesterday.

The new officers, in addition to Mrs. Elizabeth L. Kothe, Parkersburg, Ia., who was named president Tuesday, are:

Seek Sore Wrist

Fountain, Colo., Sept. 9.—(AP)—Sheriff Sam R. Deal and his deputies began looking for a thief with a very sore wrist after rancher N. L. Powers reported someone had removed a mile-long stretch of three-strand barbed wire fence from his place.

Every strand was cut between each post. Deputy Sheriff M. J. Vasseur estimated more than 1,000 cuts were made.

SHANGHAI BOMBARDMENT

Shanghai, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Three one-pounder shells crashed directly in front of the American consulate-general this afternoon, seriously injuring three Chinese civilians and one British Sikh policeman.

The "pom-pom" shells were fired from Chinese guns just north of the international settlement border, apparently at four low-flying Japanese bombers.

Just previously, 100 additional American marines had been landed from Admiral Harry Yarnell's yacht Isabel after a hurried trip from Tsingtao. They swelled the United States land forces to 1,300 marines.

The marines were moved into place immediately behind the fortifications lining the northern border of the international settlement, where the American forces guard the most hazardous section of the boundary.

UNCLE SAM'S FORCES STAY IN WAR ZONE

Americans in China Will Not Be Left Unprotected

BULLETIN

Nanking, Sept. 9.—(AP)—United States Ambassador Nelson Johnson today ordered the American consulate at Swatow closed and all Americans evacuated.

His action was taken because of the increasing danger from Japanese bombardment of the important South China port.

BULLETIN

Tokyo, Sept. 9.—(AP)—The Japanese government sent an urgent, dual protest to Soviet authorities today against the seizure of 27 Japanese vessels, including the Korean gunboat Asakaze Maru.

The protest, urging the immediate release of the ships, was sent both to Moscow and Vladivostok.

The Japanese vessels, mostly fishermen, were reported to have been detained at various times during the last week in waters of the Korean-Siberian coast.

Washington, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Secretary Hull indicated today the United States does not intend to withdraw its troops or naval vessels from China as long as the present undeclared war between Japan and China continues.

The secretary of state asserted at his press conference, in response to a direct question as to the American governments intentions in this respect, that this government's responsibility for protecting its nationals in disturbed areas lasts for the duration of the period of the danger.

Hull, recalling the United States' efforts to evacuate its nationals from the danger zone in the Far East, said nevertheless its responsibility for protecting them is clear.

He added that the government was going forward with complete unanimity among all departments involved in reforms, that obligation.

The secretary said approximately 8,000 Americans still remain in China but that they are "filtering out" of the country by degrees.

AMOY BOMBARDMENT

Amoy, China, Sept. 9.—(AP)—American residents of this south China port of Fukien province were forced to scurry underground today into bombproof dugouts for protection against a shattering two-hour raid of Japanese warplanes and warships.

American lives were gravely endangered and the United States warship Asheville was caught in the bombardment. Several bombs fell only a short distance from the Asheville and forced her officers and crew to hurry below decks for refuge from the hail of shrapnel.

Bombs and shells from the Japanese planes and ships rained on the army headquarters, police headquarters, the airfield and the old fort near the compound of the American Socony-Vacuum Oil Co.

Two of the bombs crashed near the Socony plant. Shrapnel showered the compound where many of the American employees remained at their posts. Miraculously the flying chunks of metal failed to strike either the personnel or the tanks of inflammable gasoline and oil.

The British steamer Fooshing was reported to have been halted and boarded by a Japanese blockade patrol off Amoy yesterday. After a short delay and examination of her papers the British vessel was said to have been allowed to continue her voyage to Japan.

New York Woman Kept Body of Husband in House Nearly Year

New York, Sept. 9.—(AP)—A 65 year old reclusive woman, police said, told that she had slept for nearly a year with the corpse of her husband, was held for observation today in Bellevue hospital.

"I was waiting for him to get up," said Mrs. Emily Cudas.

Police found in her possession a death certificate dated Oct. 26, 1936, and asked why she had not buried her husband.

"I was told that I could keep him for a year," she replied, "and it is not a year yet."

The body of Cudas was found on a bed in their tiny two-room apartment by Patrolman Edward Goehner, after an investigator for the old age pension bureau was denied permission to see Cudas on the plea that he was "in a coma."

Later, still refusing to believe he had died, Mrs. Cudas said she thought he was suffering from sleeping sickness.

Neighbors told police they often had heard the old woman carry on animated conversations, apparently with her husband. She admitted no one to the apartment.

Mrs. Cudas insisted on taking her purse with her to the hospital. It contained, police said, an uncashed $1500 life insurance policy on her husband, a bank book showing deposits of $300 and $28 in cash.

and to park his own car and take the lady in a taxi.

When he arrives, his hostess greets him and hands him two envelopes, one containing his wages for the evening, and the other the amount of money she desires to spend for entertainment.

The Bureau has occasional requests for bridge players, but most of the calls are for dancing partners.

Frequently, however, a request comes in for a plain "date." A lonely girl wants a boy friend. It takes the position this is a "hazardous" field of business it does not care to enter.

Merry-Go-Round

Eric H. Thomson, a former Re-settlement Administration official, is planning to establish what he calls a "Maverick University" in California. He has asked Texas Congressman Maury Maverick to be god-father of the institution and expects to enroll "young mavericks" as students—that is, migrant workers and farmers. Starch refiners in the Midwest are using substantial quantities of Argentine corn, but are hushing the fact because it would be unpopular with American farmers. Chile will not send a team to the International horse shows in Washington and New York this fall. Secretary Morgenthau has three chauffeurs, two paid by him, and one by the government.

Rochelle News

By Arthur T. Guest

Rochelle — An informal election on graded public school site is proposed to be held from 1 to 5 o'clock at the city hall, Saturday, Sept. 11, 1937.

The attorney for the board of education has advised them that the law does not provide any legal means of holding a special election to determine whether the people desire the old site or some new site as a location for the new building. The law merely provides for a special election on new sites, and this action would automatically eliminate consideration of the old or present site. The board of education does not wish to arbitrarily eliminate consideration of the old site.

In previous issues of the local press, matters concerning a school house site were brought to the attention of the public. No attempt was made to draw conclusions—merely facts were stated as they exist. In this manner, all interested persons have been in a position to review the facts and reach certain decisions.

The board of education, in order to give the public an opportunity to express their views, are arranging for an informal election on the question. This is an attempt to obtain public reaction to the entire matter of a school site. There is no legal provision for such an election as it is within the powers of the board of education; consequently this action in form will be a straw vote to obtain a cross section of public opinion.

Without such a means for the people to express themselves, the board would arbitrarily have to arrange for the consideration of a new site at a special election. This procedure would rule out any further consideration of the old site. There is no legal form of action to attack the problem.

The members of the board of education urge the citizens of Rochelle to re-read the article published recently on the matter of a school site and then express their desires by casting an informal vote at the city hall, Saturday, Sept. 11.

Everyone interested in the matter of a new site or in favor of retaining the old site is urged to cast a ballot. The board of education is not bound by the results of such an election, but they sincerely believe that the weight of public sentiment should be considered.

If there is a good majority in this informal election in favor of the old site, the board will, in all probability, construct the new building on the present site. If a majority of the votes cast is distinctly in favor of a new site, a special election will be called immediately for the people to decide on a site from among several proposed.

There are some people who make up their minds on any public question in the light of personal feelings and prejudices. This unquestionably is a mistake, and all people are urged to consider the facts bearing on the case. You are urged to re-read the previous articles published or discuss the situation with the members of the board. Some additional matters which should be considered are:

1. The new building will cover the greater part of the present site and children will be in constant danger of automobile traffic. The north and south walls of the new building will be within 23 1/2 feet of the sidewalk. There are over 300 children in this building during the year.

2. A committee of the board of education met with a committee representing the people of the Baptist church, with the idea of acquiring the property should the building be located on the old site. This would provide a greater margin of safety for the children about the building. The price asked by the committee was $25,000.00. Their lot is approximately 103x127 feet in size. This sum of course, is impossible from the standpoint of the school district. It would take approximately ten years for the school district to raise a sum of $25,000 because the bond issues for the new building has brought the district to the limit of its taxing power. Under the law, the district cannot raise any additional funds besides those already raised to construct the building. The bond issue and the government grant must be used to construct the present proposed building.

Bond issue ..... $100,000.00
Government grant ..... 77,727.00

Total funds available.....$177,727.00
Cost of new building..... 172,727.00

Balance left for contingencies, rent, or a new site ..... 5,000.00

These are absolutely all the funds legally available for the district.

3. Condemnation proceedings would drag through the courts for several years with no assurance of what price would be granted for the church property.

4. If the building is put upon the old site it will be necessary for the children to go to school for half-day sessions during this year. It has been impossible to get sufficient space (11 large rooms with toilet and lavatory facilities) to safely house all the children. School authorities have spent two years in trying to find suitable quarters to hold school, if it should be necessary to wreck the old building, but they have been unsuccessful in finding large enough quarters. Consequently, it will be necessary to use the Lincoln (South Side) school for double duty, that is South Side children in grades one to six would go to school from 8 o'clock to 12 and then go home for the day. In the afternoon from 12:30 to 5 o'clock, the Junior High School (grades 7 and 8) would use the building. This is the only possible means of housing our children in safe quarters while the new school is being built on the old site. It will take a year to build the new school. While the children would lose from one to one-half hours a day in time spent in school, actually they would lose less teaching time by being in a regular school building having all the necessary teaching equipment, than being scattered in a dozen different buildings about town.

Central school children grades 1 to 6 will also go to school only a half day session from 1 to 5 o'clock. Arrangements have been made to house them in the only safe place in the city. This building is used during the morning session for another organization.

The problem of having a place to hold school during the present year is a difficult one, however, the selection of the old site for the new building creates such a problem. It cannot be dodged or sidestepped, and must be considered.

5. If the people select some new site for the new building, the children will continue to go to school in the old Central school without interruption of their work.

6. In the window of the old National bank are a number of charts drawn to actual scale, showing comparative sizes between building and grounds. Look them over carefully as they picture all the problems involved.

7. Remember—if at this informal election, held Saturday, Sept. 11, the people desire a new site—a special election will be called immediately, and the people themselves will vote for the site they desire from among several that will be proposed. The voters pick the site themselves.

Analyze all the questions involved and your attention is called to the fact that a school erected on any site must stand there for many years and not only one or two years.

The members of the board have spent many hours in trying to solve all the difficult problems involved. They have arranged for this special election because they feel that it is the fair way to approach the problem. All the facts have been put before the public, therefore, all sincere people can make a decision on this matter. It is urged that the public keep in mind the children who will attend the new school, five of ten years from now as well as those who attend today. Only in this manner can the best interests of Rochelle and her children be served.

Funeral services were held in Chicago, Monday, Sept. 4 for the mother of Attorney Steven Helfer of Rochelle.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Wilcox announce the marriage of their daughter, June, to Philip Sandberg, son of Mrs. O. G. Sandberg of Evanston, Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The ceremony was read by the Rev. Frank A. Campbell, pastor of the Presbyterian church, at the Wilcox home at 628 North Fourth street.

The bride wore white satin and a corsage of white gardenias. Her sister, Lucille, as bridesmaid, was dressed in light blue and wore a corsage of pink roses. Best man was Melvin Gleemake of Chicago.

Nuptial music was furnished by Miss Enid Sanberg, sister of the bridegroom.

After the ceremony, a reception was held for fifty guests. The home was attractively decorated with fall flowers, carrying out a color scheme of yellow and white.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mrs. O. G. Sandberg, Miss Florida Sandberg, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Swan and Miss Joan Swan of Evanston; Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Sandberg, Melvin Gleemake and Mr. and Mrs. Earl L. Taylor of Chicago; Miss Enid Sanberg of Litch, Ill.; Dr. and Mrs. H. L. Wilcox and son Jack of Rockford; Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Forward of Elkhart, Ind.; and Mr. and Mrs. L. Guennett and daughters, Barbara and Gretchen of Waukegan.

The bride is a graduate of Rochelle township high school with the class of 1934, and has been attending Northern Illinois State Teachers' college at DeKalb the past three years. Mr. Sandberg, son of the late Bishop O. G. Sandberg, graduated from Senn high school in Chicago. He also attended DeKalb State Teachers' College and is now employed at the Wurlitzer Piano Company in DeKalb, where he and his bride are now residing.

Thursday, Sept. 2, Frances Terviel and Percy Finkboner were united in marriage. The ceremony took place at 1 P. M. at the parsonage of the Rev. Mr. Glad, Lutheran minister at Geneva. Mr. and Mrs. Kriene Terviel, the former a brother of the bride, attended the couple. Following the ceremony, the bride party enjoyed a dinner at the Geneva hotel. Mr. and Mrs. Finkboner drove in to Chicago from there.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Finkboner are employed at the Caron Spinning Co. mill here. They will make their home at the Griffith apartment on Fifth avenue. Mrs. Finkboner has made her home in Rochelle for the past four years with Mrs. A. M. Peterson.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Colman—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rain to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just dumps in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sick and the world looks pink. Laxatives are only makeshifts. A more bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

CHICAGO TIMES CHARGES NAZIS ACTIVE IN U. S.

Paper Alleges Plans To Seize Control of Gov- ernment

Chicago, Sept. 9.—(AP)—The Daily Times said in a copyrighted article today that "in uniforms strangely suggestive of those worn by Adolf Hitler's Nazi Storm Troops, a relatively small but rapidly growing army is preparing for the American counterpart of 'Der Tag' when it plans to seize control of the United States'."

The newspaper said the article resulted from an "exhaustive investigation of American Nazis" made by three reporters and investigators, James J. McCallie, a former Federal investigator, John C. Metcalfe, his brother, and William A. Mueller, Mueller wrote the article.

The investigators, the newspaper said, "worked for many months both from within and outside the Amerikadeutscher Volksbund—German-American Bund—and its companion organization, the Deutscher Volksbund" traveling from coast to coast and from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico, to learn international secrets.

"Under the name of Oberwinder," the article continued, "the Metcalfe brothers months ago built themselves up as Nazi sympathizers and were accepted as members of the organization."

"John Metcalfe established himself in the predominantly German Yorkville section of New York City and later acted as a propagandist for the Amerikadeutscher Bund on a cross-country tour."

"A month later John Metcalfe became a Storm Trooper in New York. His brother, James, was accepted as a member of the alien army operated by the Deutscher Volksbund in Chicago. x x x

"The Times investigators found the German brand of Fascism spreading x x x throughout the nation. Leaders of the movement say they will seize control of the United States, but not until the Communists' revolution starts."

Part of Hitler Movement
"The organization is an integral part of the Hitler movement in Germany. Leaders are in frequent communication with Berlin. Every method of modern propaganda is used to win converts to the cause."

"Chief tenet of the German-American Bund is an intense hatred of Jews and all things Jewish. Other Anti-Semitic organizations are lining up with the Bund in what leaders plan will be a general Fascist merger. x x x

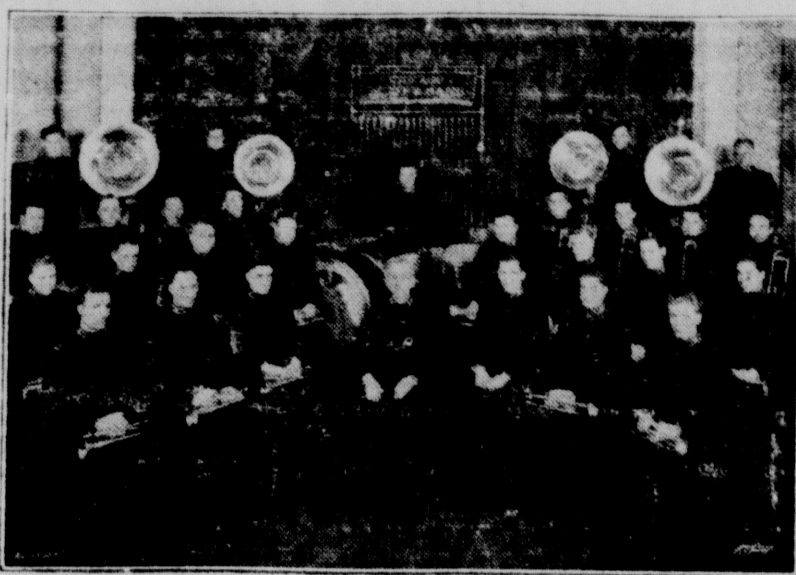

"The Amerikadeutscher Volksbund now has sixty odd organizations, or posts, scattered from coast to coast. Each group has a select organization of 'Ordnungs Dienst' commonly called O. D.'s. The avowed purpose of this uniformed force is to police Bund gatherings, but it is an exact replica of the Hitler Storm Troops. x x x

"Times investigator John Metcalfe, drilled twice a week with the Astoria O. D. unit in Turner hall, 44th and Broadway, Astoria, listened to the school-session lectures on the duties of O. D.'s; marched with them under the swastika and American flags at week-end celebrations in their elaborate camps on Long Island and in the Rolling Hill of New Jersey. Later he carried the official greetings of Fritz Kuhn."

He's Gathering Broadway Items

Chicago Band at Mount Morris

The final musical event at Mt. Morris, of the free, open-air summer concert season will occur Saturday evening at 8 o'clock when the Kable Brothers company and Kable Brothers 129th Infantry band present the Chicago Staff band of the Salvation Army, conducted by Bandmaster John Stewart. The organization which is also known as "the band with a sacred message," is composed of 30 members, most of them being officers and employees of the Salvation Army headquarters in Chicago.

Representatives of the Salvation Army throughout the world, totaling more than 45,000 musicians, these men give of their time and talents as their part of Christian service, receiving no remuneration whatever for their playing. The instrumentation of the band is unique in that it consists entirely of brass instruments giving a tone comparable to that of the organ. All music played by the band is composed or arranged by Army musicians, and is printed in the Salvation Army's own music publishing house in London, England.

Dr. Edwin Frank Goldman of New York City recently referred to the Chicago Staff band as one of the finest non-professional bands he has heard. The band has been under his guest conductorship on several occasions, as well as that of such outstanding band leaders as Frank Simon, the late John Phillip Sousa and Mr. Morris' own bandmaster, Captain Howard Bronson.

The Chicago Staff band has traveled extensively and has played before large audiences in leading cities of the United States and national fairs, to units on the west coast.

"James Metcalfe, posing as a German citizen, joined the Deutscher Volksbund in Chicago. The setup of the Hitler worshippers in Chicago is different from that in other sections of the country in that there is a separate organization (The Deutscher Volksbund) for national Germans who have no intention of becoming American citizens."

is the teacher in District No. 94. There are nine pupils enrolled.

Connie Parker was a weekend guest of Betty Berga in Amboy.

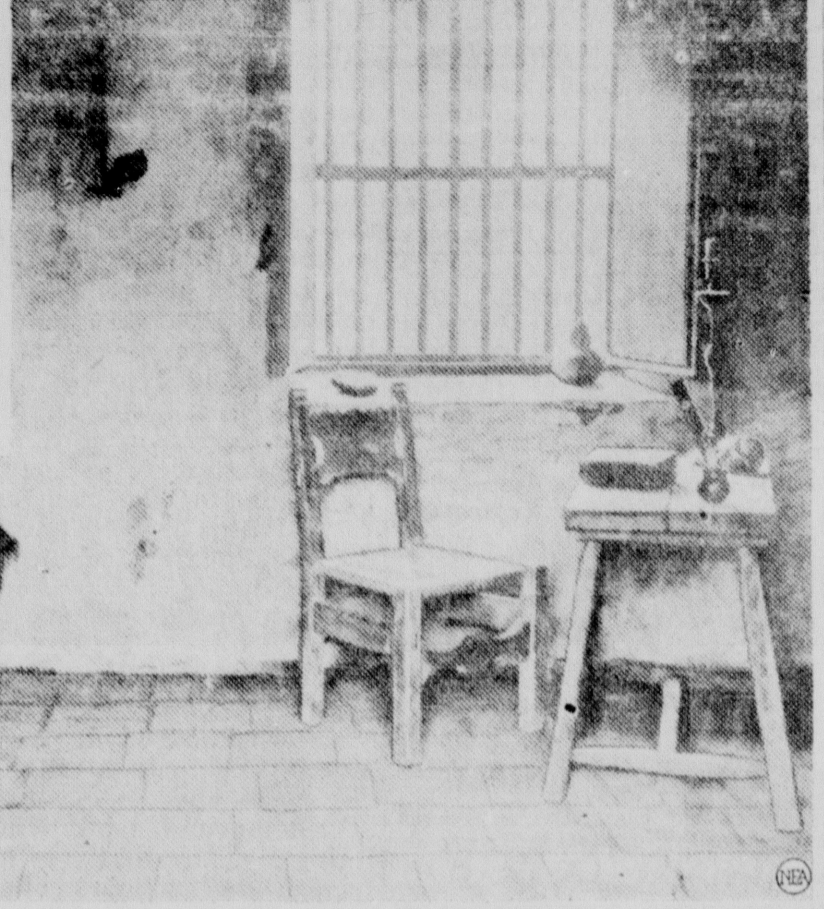

In the passing of Dr. C. A. Robbins of Dixon the local Odd Fellows and Rebekah lodges have sustained a distinct loss. Dr. Robbins assisted in the institution of the two lodges Oct. 3, 1913, and exemplified the Rebekah initiation to the nearby 80 charter members with his well-drilled degree team. He and Mrs. Robbins, both past grand officers of the state, have frequently visited this Rebekah lodge and have given many encouraging and enlightening talks regarding that fraternal organization. Dr. Robbins also attended special meetings of Haskell lodge 1004 I. O. O. F. and was ever a welcome guest.

Miss Margaret Wheeler of Dixon and LaVerne Field of Charles City, Ia., were married Saturday, Sept. 4, at 2:15 p. m. in the Methodist parsonage at Clinton, Ia., with the pastor of the church officiating at a single ring ceremony. They were attended by Miss Elizabeth Murphy, registered nurse, of Dixon, and Charles Smith of Charles City. The bride was charming in a navy blue gown of crepe Romaine with white accessories and wore a corsage of Briarcliff roses. The bridesmaid was attired in a navy blue sheer and her corsage was of Tallman roses. The groom wore a conventional dark blue suit. Following the ceremony the bridal party motored to the home of James Wheeler, a brother of the bride, where they and the immediate family were served a 5 o'clock four course dinner catered by Mrs. Raymond Degner and served by Mary Alice Wheeler, a niece, and Betty Jean Ford. The young couple then left for Toluca for a short visit with relatives of the groom. For the wedding trip the bride wore a black taffeta ensemble with white accessories.

The bride is a graduate of the Dixon high school and also of the Dixon Public hospital. She followed her profession in the hospitals of Amboy and Dixon and for the past two and one-half years was night supervisor in the Dixon hospital. The groom holds a responsible position with the Oliver Farm Equipment company in Charles City where the young couple will make their home.

Their many friends extend best wishes for happiness and prosperity. Sunday night they were given a charivari by Lee Center and East End friends at the James Wheeler home.

IS IT HEREDITY OR ENVIRONMENT?

Luther C. Steward, president of the National Federation of Federal Employees, speaking to delegates in annual convention in Springfield:

"Notwithstanding the specific pronouncements in the democratic platform of 1936 in favor of the extension of the merit system in the federal service, there was indicated a possibility of delay and double-crossing and unfortunately this possibility eventuated into an actual fact."

Never mind, Luther, much more noted persons than you have been double-crossed by this same party, that we may live a more abundant life.

Where were you, Luther, when the cursing was going on about the double-crossing following the platform of 1932?

Now there was a real and picturesque double-crossing.

JOHN L. LEWIS, FARM LEADER

That notable farm leader, John L. Lewis, who last week proclaimed his purpose to bring the farmers into line with the C. I. O., gave out his farm policy in his Labor Day address at Pittsburg, that great agricultural center.

Shorter hours for shop workers, higher wages for shop workers, and a greater voice for shop workers in the councils of industry is what he has to offer the farmers, to whom he is bidding.

In another Pennsylvania address he warned that machines would increasingly replace men unless the workers organized. There is another good idea for the farmers. Keep out the improved machinery and make production cost more and more instead of adopting the policy of the automobile industry and giving more and more for a dollar.

The slogan for the Lewis farmer-labor party will be, "Economic principles of the horse and buggy age are bad, but holding industry to the horse and buggy age is our aim."

THE OLD, OLD CIRCLE

We have started the run around on the old, old circle of increasing costs of living. In war time we called it a "vicious" circle, but since higher prices are what Washington has been demanding it hardly becomes us now to designate it as vicious.

In a statement the American Federation of Labor declared:

"Rising costs of living make wage increases urgent. Any worker whose pay envelope this fall does not bring him 5 percent more than last fall will be forced to a lower living standard. Living costs in July were already 4.3 percent above 1936."

"Before the end of the year, prices are expected to increase further in meats, eggs, woolen clothing, furniture, floor covering, and rents. It is conservative to estimate that before winter it will take 5 percent more to buy last year's living standard."

Rising wages are largely accountable for the rising costs, which are made the basis of a demand for another increase in wages.

Back in war time when wage scale of rail workers were being boosted regularly and rapidly, Mr. Lee, head of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, finally said: "It's not of much use. By the time we get a raise into effect the cost of living so has increased that the raise is offset."

That readily may be seen now as we witness the processes at work and the complaint of the American Federation of Labor. What happened was that when application was made for wage increases that were almost certain to be granted, new freight rates were proposed and when higher freight rates were in the offing they were anticipated by shippers and retailers. And as Mr. Lee said, by the time the increase went through all the red tape, the rise in the cost of living was there to meet it.

Shortening of hours and higher labor costs are elements in the higher costs of clothing, furniture, floor covering, and rents, itemized by the federation as higher living costs for the wage-earner. Wage scales in the building industry went up 20 per cent not long ago, and, of course, that is reflected in rents imposed upon all fellow workers.

Given time all these advances become factors in living costs, and the contest becomes one of how the money is to be divided and who wins the great game of run around.

JAPAN, TAKE NOTICE

Reports are current that Japan, having at least partly subdued the Chinese populace in that section of northern China immediately south of Manchuria, is planning to move the capital of Manchuria toward into the newly acquired provinces, and install Emperor Kang Teh, alias Pu Yi, as ruler of the whole area.

Kang Teh, or Pu Yi, whichever you please, is the former boy emperor of China, and retains a considerable following throughout what was once the Celestial empire. No doubt the Chinese would feel better being ruled, if the republic must be conquered, by a Celestial.

In that respect Kang Teh is an asset to Japan. But Kang Teh is a Manchur, one of the clan that ruled China during days of glory, and the Japanese are Japs. Traditionally the Manchus have no love whatever for the Japanese for reasons which history will disclose, but which can not be recited within the space afforded by this column. Kang Teh, as he worships at the graves of his illustrious forebears in Manchuria, must ponder over certain things, and he must, if he is the descendant of these fierce fighters, chafe at the restraints of puppetry.

It is to be wondered whether, when the Japanese have conquered as much of China as they intend to occupy and have placed Kang Teh upon a larger puppet throne, Kang Teh will not decide to step out and be an emperor in his own right.

Probably, in such an enterprise, Kang Teh would have the support not only of the conquered sections of China, but of the unconquered areas as well.

All this is conjecture. Kang Teh may not live to see the day, but history is in the making, and things started today will be completed in the days of grandchildren of this generation of kings, dictators and war lords.

THAT'S US

Two hundred thirty-six persons were killed in automobile accidents in the United States over the Labor day week-end.

Remember back when we were singing, I Didn't Raise My Boy to Be a Soldier? It's so much nicer to furnish him an automobile and send him out on our nice, smooth highways.

About 40,000 will be killed in 1937, a number in excess of Americans killed in the World War.

WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

NATION NEEDS RELIGIOUS HOMES

Text: Deuteronomy 6:4-5; 11:18-23

By Wm. E. Gilroy, D. D.

Editor of Advance

There will not be much religion in a nation unless there is religion in its homes. The quality of a nation's life could be very well determined from its home life.

The Bible is a great textbook of home and family life. The Hebrew scriptures would seem to be almost unique in the ancient world in the high idealism that they attached to family relationships.

Among pagan peoples who even had considerable culture, it was not thought inconsistent with good practice to expose the weak and the aged to death; but Hebrew children were taught to love and honor their parents, and the Hebrew scriptures again and again bear evidence of the deep affection of parents for their children.

At a later time the Jews were foremost in education, and the Jewish boy of 12 in the time of Jesus had a training that would compare favorably with what the boy of today receives under a modern educational system.

In some respects, perhaps, the training was deeper and more effective. Here in this lesson from the early life of Israel, there is strong insistence upon the teaching of children in the home, the training of them in the great traditions and principles of their national religious life, and the strengthening of them for all the duties and responsibilities of life.

There is a sort of imperialism note in this lesson in the idea of a strong national dispossession of other peoples and driving them out; and all this does not measure very properly with the ideals of New Testament religion, which is the religion of love even to enemies, and the religion of mercy and justice.

But apart from this imperialism of an advanced age, the sort of imperialism that is still too rampant in a world that has not progressed to the heights of New Testament teaching, the teaching of this lesson is sound in its suggestion that the strength of a nation depends upon the relationships of its people in their home and daily life.

We read an ancient lesson in terms of Christian fulfillment of Old Testament ideas. What makes a Christian home? First of all, a sense of responsibility to Christ to God. A home cannot be Christian where parents themselves do not love and worship the Great Father. Where parents love God they will love their children truly and deeply. They will have the same love toward their children that God has, even toward his erring and wayward ones.

Where a home is truly Christian, children will love and honor their parents, and there will be an attitude of accord and helpfulness toward one another. One of the saddest things in life is to see brothers and sisters traducing the very name of brotherhood. Our great words—fatherhood, motherhood, brotherhood—are embedded in the conception of the ideal home.

The great question confronting us in church and in state is how increasingly we can make our homes ideal homes, until all the homes of the nation become filled with the right spirit and the nation itself is one great home and family.

FOR SAFETY'S SAKE INSIST ON CONCRETE for all streets

MANY accidents on the streets are caused by pavements that are bumpy, raveled, slippery when wet, difficult to clean, obscure at night. These accidents can be prevented by paving with concrete which:

1. Reduces skidding in all weather
2. Has high visibility at night
3. Keeps a true and even surface, free from bumps
4. Drains and dries quickly; no pockets of standing water or mud
5. Encourages traffic to use the full street width—passing is easier

Concrete costs less to build than any other pavement of equal load carrying capacity—costs far less to maintain—cuts motoring costs.

Don't be satisfied with less than clean, safe, enduring concrete on your streets.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. No. The Institute of Social and Religious Research studied this question on an immense scale with 10,000 boys and girls, 8 to 14, and found that no one has "general honesty"—honesty that applies to all circumstances. He has only a lot of separate "honesties." He is honest in one set of circumstances and dishonest in others. A boy may be a model at home and yet lie, cheat and steal in school or vice versa or even lie in the schoolroom and yet be perfectly "honorable" on the playground. Building a sound, consistent character, therefore, depends on weaving all these separate honesties into a general pattern or ideal of honesty that will cover practically all situations.

3. You would naturally suppose that having one accident would make him more careful. Possibly it does but it often reveals the fact that he is the kind of person who has accidents—the "accident prone" individual. James E. ## DEAN CERTAIN HE'S STILL AS GOOD AS EVER

Frowns On Suggestion He Take Year Off Duty

St. Louis, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Branch Rickey started it—now Jerome Herman Dean wants to finish it.

And when the Dizzy one says finish, he refers to his connections with Messrs. Sam Braden and Rickey's Gas House Gang.

A suggestion here last night by the Cardinals' general manager that Old Diz take a year off "as a tonic" and "build up his baseball morale" temporarily nonplussed Dean when he heard about it in Chicago.

"If that's the way they feel about me it would be better if they let me go," he countered. "I think three or four clubs could use me."

"I may not be doing so good now but I'll be okay by next season and I can't see any reason for layin' off a year."

Rickey said he made the suggestion in view of the big right-hander's record for the season. Diz dropped No. 10 to the Cubs yesterday after a lay-off since August 26 because of his ailing flipper. He has won 13 games.

Diz was more voluble than his boss but showed unusual restraint in commenting on Rickey's opinion that voluntary retirement would be "the best thing that could happen to Dizzy," his description of the eccentric hurler as "not just a player—a big shot" and then added "He's not on the market; there's no market for him."

Soured on Fame
"All the time for the last seven years when I was winning games and winning World's Series, I was a great guy and everything was oke dokie. Now when I ain't goin' so good, everything's wrong with me."

Dean blamed his poor record recently on that left big toe broken in the All-Star game. He described his 1 to 0 victory at Cincinnati July 4 as "one of the best games I ever pitched," adding "I was on the way to my best season."

"Two days later my left toe was broke. Ten days later I was requested to report to the club at Boston, which I did."

"Frisch (Manager Frank Frisch) asked me if I could pitch when I showed up. I did."

"I gave him a pretty good game but lost, 2 to 1. The toe was not healing and I couldn't pivot for my follow through and I hurt my arm favoring my toe."

Concerning his 4 to 0 loss to the Cubs yesterday, Dizzy said he "never should have been in there," though Rickey credited him with "a good game."

"My arm felt terrible," Diz insisted.

Expects to Remain
He wound up saying he expected to remain with the club and "do the best I can" unless otherwise ordered.

This season has been Dizzy's worst since a sensational entry into the big league picture in 1932, but he has easily copped the "bad boy" honors for the year.

As the 1936 season closed, Dizzy lost no time in announcing himself as the No. 1 holdout of 1937. He finally signed for a reputed $25,000—the highest paid a big league hurler.

Then followed a series of incidents. First were the May 19 balk in a game with the Giants that ended in a general melee and Dean's "sit-down strike" May 23 when Umpire Beans Reardon gave Jimmy Wilson, Phillies manager, an extra ball because Diz took so much time pitching.

A few days later Diz was quoted at Belleville, Ill., as calling Umpire George Barr, who made the balk ruling, and President Ford Frick of the National league "the two biggest crooks in baseball."

On June 2 Frick suspended Dean indefinitely and demanded a written apology. Dean denied the story and stood by his declaration he'd "sign nothin' for nobody." He won the battle of words with Frick and was reinstated June 4.

CARD PURGE PREPARED AS ROW FLARES

Pennant Hopes Are Glimmering More Every Day

By SID FEDER

Associated Press Sports Writer
The St. Louis Cardinals looked very much today as if they were sharpening up a knife for the purpose of cutting off their collective nose to spite their equally collective face.

If they were really serious about suggesting a year's retirement for Dizzy Dean, and were not just talking to throw a scare into baseball's No. 1 blower-offer, it would seem they'd be doing themselves more harm than good by shelving the greatest pitching arm in the game for that length of time, despite his eccentricities.

The row started by Branch Rickey with the retirement suggestion, and followed up by Dean's plaintive plea for permission to trade himself, took the stage away from anything in the big time today. Playing second fiddle to the Rickey-Dean brasses were such other developments as the reappointment of "Bolling Bolly" Grimes as chief umpire baiter and manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers; the continuation of the Giants' 2½-game lead in the National league race; the widening of the Yankees' American league edge to 12 full games, and the rise of Pittsburgh to third place in the National league and Cleveland to fourth in the American.

May Have Reasons
The Cards may have their reasons for talking about packing Dizzy's arm—as well as his ability to talk it out with anyone in the game—in mothballs for a year. These would include, of course, the fact that such a move would, as Rickey described it, "act as a tonic and build up his baseball morale as well as his arm."

But on the other hand Dizzy has given no evidence that his pitching warrants a year's retirement, and when he's right, he's somewhat better than a greenhand at fogging 'em in.

He certainly didn't look ready for a wheelchair yesterday as he pitched a five-hitter against the Cubs. Although he lost, 4-0, largely because of the clotting of Gabby Hartnett, a five-hitter isn't exactly getting your ears pinned back.

The victory for the Cubs enabled them to stay within shouting distance of the Giants, who had their hands full before pulling out a 9-7 decision over their best-loved "haters," the Dodgers.

The Yanks pulled two games out of the fire against the Red Sox. They took the opener, 3-2, with a run in the ninth and then, with Gehrig's 33rd homer as the payoff wallop, scored eight runs in the final frame to win the second game, 9-6.

The Tigers managed only an even break with the Indians, taking the nightcap, 10-5, on Hank Greenberg's two homers, after dropping the curtain raiser, 6-1. The Pirates pounded the Reds, 7-6, in 10 frames and 8-2 in nine.

Four well-pitched games found the Phillies splitting with the Bees and the Athletics doing the same with the Senators. The Phils won, 6-3, and lost, 1-0. The A's won, 2-0, and then went down, 1-0. The White Sox socked the Browns, 10-1.

Pro Football Has Regained Some Of Damaged Prestige

New York, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Thanks to the New York Giants' 14 to 7 victory over the eastern all-star college eleven, professional football today had regained some of the prestige lost in recent encounters with star-studded college outfits.

The Giants made it two in a row over the collegians in a game played at the Polo Grounds last night for the benefit of the Herald-Tribune fresh air fund, but had several uncomfortable moments.

The game ended just after Mickey Kobrosky of Trinity had passed the collegians 78 yards to the "Giants" two-yard marker. Needing only one yard for a first down or two for a touchdown, the collegians were confronted by a stone wall that held battering Stu Smith to the line of scrimmage.

National Rifle Matches Drawing To An End Today

Chicago, Sept. 9.—(AP)—The national amateur softball championship battle will open tomorrow night at Soldier field with more than 85 teams entered in the men's and women's title divisions.

The tournament will open with both defending champions in action, the Kodak Park club of Rochester, N. Y., men's titleholders, meeting Chicago, and the National Manufacturing Girls of Cleveland, tackling Toronto, Ont.

Other first round games, all listed for Saturday when four diamonds will be in use most of the day, include:

Men's Division
Peoria, Ill. vs. Providence, R. I.; Daws, Rochester, N. Y., vs. South Bend, Ind.; Boone, Ia., vs. Minneapolis; Wisconsin champion, bye; Elizabeth, N. J., vs. St. Louis; Modesto, Calif., vs. St. Joseph, Mo.

Women's Division
New Orleans vs. Hammond, Ind.; Reading Pa., vs. Forest Park, Ill.; Racine, Wis., vs. Bridgeport, Conn.; Phoenix, Ariz., vs. Council Bluffs, Ia.; Chicago vs. Pittsburgh.

BIG TEN GRID DRIVE BEGINS WITH 600 OUT

Eight Rivals Start Campaign To Beat Gophers, N. U.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Public relations directors of the Big Ten and Notre Dame will give the 1937 football season to the athletes tomorrow.

The public relations boys have been telling the world for a month how tough things are going to be at their institutions this season. Tomorrow, close to 600 applicants for regular jobs on varsity teams will go to work in the first practice session of the campaign.

In eight Big Ten camps and at Notre Dame, the aim will be to start something capable of causing trouble for Northwestern, the 1936 conference champion, and Minnesota's Gophers, whose great victory string was snapped by the Wildcats. Notre Dame, where Elmer Layden will start with 85 selected candidates meets both of the Big Ten favorites, facing the mighty men of Minnesota at Minneapolis October 30, and tackling Northwestern November 20.

Gophers Favored
Early figures indicate Minnesota should regain the conference title, with Northwestern making a rousing bid to retain it.

Francis Schmidt, in charge at Ohio State for the fourth season, must find new backfield talent to use his "razzle-dazzle" offensive, as well as linemen of the caliber of Inwood Smith, Charles Hamrick and Merle Wendt, all graduated. Of the five on whom Schmidt was depending to do his backfield work, Jim Williams dropped out because of scholastic difficulties; Bill Booth was killed Saturday in an automobile accident, and yesterday Jim Straasbaugh dropped out with scholastic troubles. That leaves only Jim Miller and Bob Maloney.

Coach Francis Schmidt, in charge at Ohio State for the fourth season, still has strong backfield talent to use his "razzle-dazzle" offensive system, but must come up with linemen of the caliber of Inwood Smith, Charles Hamrick and Merle Wendt, all graduated to remain in the league's top flight.

In spite of the loss of Head Coach Noble Kizer, who has been given a leave of absence to recover from a kidney ailment, Purdue's Boiler-makers again figure to be among the contenders. Line Coach Mal Elward will replace Kizer for the season, and will have 20 major let-terms on his squad of 92. The Big Ten's biggest prospective turnout.

The early darkhorse group includes Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana and Michigan.

Bob Zupke will head into his 25th season at Illinois, not saying much, but smiling. For the first time since 1932 he figures to have heavyweights on his squad of 52, instead of light heavies and middleweights.

Burleigh Grimes Re-Signed To Pilot Dodgers Next Year

Brooklyn, Sept. 9.—(AP)—National league umpires take warning—Burleigh Grimes will be back managing the Brooklyn Dodgers again next season.

"Bolling Bolly" was re-appointed last night at a reported substantial increase in salary.

Grimes, who succeeded Casey Stengel last November, and has brought a nondescript outfit into sixth place so far this season, may get from $13,000 to $15,000 in 1938. His salary for this year was believed to be between $8,000 and $10,000.

Grimes will carry into the 1938 wars with the title of champion "umpire baiter" of the league. He has been tossed out of eight games this year for telling the ump's what he thought of them, and has been fined several times.

New York, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Anybody who can kick is welcome to try out in the North Carolina State backfield. One Chicago paper called last week's all-star tilt a "foot-Baugh game." Pretty slick. Jimmy Kelly, the Greenwich Village night club king, will start a racing stable with two nags called "Dan Parker" and "Hugh Bradley" after two well-known New York sports editors. The boys say Johnny Marcum of the Red Sox is the laziest guy in the American league. He won't even tote a bat from the dug-out, but uses the one the batter ahead of him dropped at the plate.

Tale of two cities: On the same day 722 St. Louis fans watched the Athletics beat the Browns, 5-2, a crowd of 85,000 saw Jack Milne of California win a dirt track motorcycle race in London. One of the likeliest-looking freshman footballers up at Syracuse is Bill Eschenfelder, all-New York City school tackle last year and a good one to keep your peepers on. Harry Lenny, the fight manager, is going to take his crack lightweight, Spider Runyan, on a European tour. On the way home Harry will stop off in Ireland to look for a heavyweight white hope.

In a track meet in Japan yesterday, the half mile was won by Uno with On, third. Am was an Un ran. Ernie Lombardi of the Reds hasn't made a sacrifice hit in four seasons. Clemson's foot-baller will travel 5,000 miles to and from the vars this year. Texas University and Nebraska are negotiating a football home and home series to start in 1940. The Huskers are tied up that far ahead. Max Schmeling's first tune-up bout for Joe Louis will be against Walter Neusel in Berlin this winter. David Fromer was switched from the Bridgeport (Conn.) Post to the Morgantown (W. Va.) Dominion-News where he is sports editor.

CHICAGO BOOKED ON BELOIT 1937 GRID SCHEDULE

Blue And Gold Eleven Opens Campaign With Dubuque Foe

Beloit, Wis., Sept. 9.—Fall football practice for Beloit college opened here today with 35 gridders returning and an additional number expected to be in Blue and Gold uniforms before the opening of school on Sept. 16. The first week of practice will be devoted to light general workouts combined with daily chalk talks. Actual scrimmage will take place next week.

Bud Butler, head athletic coach at Beloit college will be assisted in his duties by Mocco Mercer, former Simpson athlete and star of several seasons in the National Professional Football league. Mercer will have charge of the Gold backs. Louis Means, Beloit athletic director, will assist Butler and Mercer with the varsity and also aid in whipping this year's freshman squad into shape. Assisting Means with the freshmen will be Holle Lepley, formerly of Carroll college. Lepley is a new member on the college's athletic staff for the coming term.

Beloit, Title Contenders
"A very well balanced team, with good reserve strength should make Beloit a strong contender for the Midwest title," Coach Butler said today as he watched his gridders go through their first practice round. "If we can escape the injury jinx which overcame us last year I see no reason why we can't have a very successful year."

Beloit will have a speedy backfield composed chiefly of members of last year's freshmen outfit, one of the most powerful eleven's Gold had in recent years. The line will be highly efficient except at the guard posts. Weakness at these positions will be due to the failure of two regulars to return to school for the coming term.

Beloit's opening contest is less than two weeks away and their first gridiron battle will be against Dubuque University of Dubuque, Ia. The game will be played under the lights of Strong Stadium Friday, Sept. 24.

The remainder of the schedule is as follows:

Oct. 1—Lake Forest at Beloit.
Oct. 9—Cornell at Mount Vernon.
Oct. 15—Ripon at Beloit.
Oct. 23—Knox at Beloit (Homecoming).
Oct. 30—Coe at Cedar Rapids.
Nov. 6—Lawrence at Appleton.
Nov. 13—Chicago at Chicago.
Night games.

Flanagan Defends Three National Swimming Titles

Chicago, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Ralph Flanagan, lanky freestyler from Miami, Fla., started today on the first installment of a bid to retain three national A. U. men's senior swimming titles.

Flanagan, star of last year's outdoor championship meet at Des Moines, where he won the mile, half-mile and quarter-mile swims, was scheduled to open today in the longer race, and there was little to indicate he would not get away to a victorious start.

The chief opposition to his bid was expected to come from another Florida crawler, John Patton of Fort Lauderdale. The others in the field were George Lowe of the University of Illinois, Bill Stires and Jack Roderick of Canton, O., Burt Erich of New Haven, Conn., and Elwood Woodling of Ohio State University.

ANGEL CHILD HAS EDGE IN GRAND CIRCUIT TROT

Indianapolis, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Angel Child, owned by Dr. A. O. Taylor of Maysville, Ky., appeared to have the edge today in the 2:09 grand circuit trot at the Indiana state fairgrounds track.

Calumet Epton, the entry of the Parshall Stables, Urbana, O., was the railbirds' choice to give Angel Child a stiff battle. Others entered in the race included Vagabond King, owned by H. W. Boyd of Chicago, and Silver King, owned by R. W. Wright of Coriopolis, Pa. The event carried a $1,500 purse.

Another promising event on the day's card was the 2:08 late closing pace, with a $1,000 purse. Favored were Cardinal Prince, owned by the Hotel Baker Stables of St. Charles, Ill., and Miss Hoff, the entry of Hughs & Miller of Des Moines, Ia.

Two other races, the mayor's 2:15 pace and the Cedar Hill stock farm three-year-old trot, completed the program.

The Widower, entry of William F. Hetherington of Rhinebeck, N. Y., won the $9,650 Fox stake for two-year-olds yesterday. The winner's share was $4,725. Purling Brook, owned by Dr. L. M. Gylling of Andover, O., took the 2:13 trot. Nate Hanover of Old Glory Farms, Oshkosh, Wis., captured the 2:24 pace, and Balbo, with Fred Egan of Lexington, Ky., up triumphed in the 2:20 trot.

National Amateur Softball Tourney Begins Tomorrow

Camp Perry, O., Sept. 9.—(AP)—As the national rifle matches drew toward the close today, the national individual rifle championship was held by Lieut. James G. Frazer of the U. S. Marine Corps, Washington, D. C.

Topping a field of 1922 marksmen, he scored 289 out of possible 300.

A new record was set by the Los Angeles police team in winning the national pistol team match with 1322 out of possible 1500. The previous mark was 1330 set by U. S. Marines in 1920.

Most New York social register clubs have more than a thousand members.

Earle Brucker, Athletics, and Pete Appleton and Fred Sington, Senators—Brucker drove in all runs for 2-0 opener win; Appleton pitched four-hitter and Sington's single sent only run across in 1-0 nightcap.

Larry French and Gabby Hartnett, Cubs—French fanned 10, allowed five hits as Hartnett hit homer, double, driving in three runs in 4-0 win over Cardinals.

Myrl Hoag and Lou Gehrig, Yankees—Hoag's ninth inning single drove in winning run for 3-2 opener victory over Red Sox; Gehrig hit homer in ninth with two on to break up nightcap for 9-6 win.

Johnny McCarthy, Giants—Hit homer and drove in four runs for 9-7 win over Dodgers.

Fulton, Mo., Sept. 9.—(AP)—W. Burton Moore, coach and discoverer of Helen Stephens, woman athlete, in her pre-Olympic career, said he thought her turning professional was "too bad."

"I think she turned professional too soon," Moore commented. "She should have waited until after the 1940 Olympics to sign a professional contract. I believe it would have been more profitable for her at that time."

Japanese army, airforce and navy. Chinese struck a new blow at the Japanese navy by blockading the upper reaches of the Yangtze river with a barrier just below Silver island, some 30 miles east of Nanking.

The barrier also bottled up the United States fleet of river gunboats on the Yangtze and made more difficult the evacuation of 1200 war-battered refugees at Hankow, 550 miles up the Yangtze from Shanghai, as well as other Americans in various parts of the valley.

Nearly 500 American officers and sailors are aboard the six gunboats marooned on the river. They have food supplies for six months, however, and Admiral Yarnell felt no concern for their safety.

Attack "Back Door"

The main Japanese attack was launched in force against King-wang, the strategic "back door" to Shanghai, six miles north of the city and midway to Woosung.

A Chinese army spokesman said today that one lone battalion of the 98th division, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's own, had been Paoshan against repeated Japanese attacks for a week.

Yesterday they were wiped out to the last man when Japanese engineers blew in the wall of the ancient town, burying part of the unit now known as "China's Lost Battalion."

Scores of Chinese civilians were killed or wounded when Japanese warplanes raided the Nantao and Lungshu districts, south of the international settlement.

Brisk Engagement

There was a brisk engagement at Kiangwang last night when a small detachment of Japanese fought its way to the ruins of the million dollar municipal center.

On the far-northern front around Peiping the Japanese advance was reported to have been held up and their right flank driven in some five miles by an ambushade that cost the lives of 4,000 Japanese.

Japanese advances from Kaigan, capital of Chahar province, reported that the Japanese army, moving forward under a terrific artillery barrage, had advanced farther into Shanhsi province along the Peiping-Suiyuan railroad.

Strategic Chinese positions south of Yankow were said to have been occupied last night and the Japanese were continuing the advance, driving the Chinese before them with severe losses.

Youths Who Stole Car Here Indicted By Federal Jury

An Associated Press dispatch from Davenport, Ia., today contained information relating to the disposition of charges against two youths in the federal court in that city, where they were indicted yesterday by a federal grand jury in special session on charges of stealing an automobile from this city on July 12.

James Boyle of Enfield, Ill., and James Masterson of St. Louis were brought from Iowa City where they were arrested while in possession of the Dixon car, to Davenport.

Both men pleaded guilty at an immediate arraignment and Judge Charles A. Dewey indicated he would parole Boyle to his grandfather at Enfield and that Masterson would be sent to some federal institution.

Boyle and Masterson were charged with having stolen an automobile belonging to Eugene McMillion of this city, which was taken on the afternoon of July 12 from the parking place on East First street between Ottawa and Crawford avenues. They were apprehended at Iowa City the following day with the stolen car in their possession.

JOBLESS COUNT GIVEN BIGGERS BY PRESIDENT

Hyde Park, N. Y., Sept. 9.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today asked John D. Biggers of Toledo, Ohio, to take charge of the unemployed registration authorized by Congress. Biggers said he would give his answer in Washington Wednesday.

At the same time it was understood preliminary consideration was being given by the president to utilizing local election and postal machinery to make the count, which will be kept on a voluntary basis.

Under the tentative plan the president may stir interest before the registration by a public radio address, with the registration set for a single day—probably a Saturday some time after the fall elections.

Registrants would be assisted in filling out simplified questionnaires at regular polling places. To guard against misrepresentation, they would be required to make answer under oath.

They would be given a card showing they had registered. If successful, the count may be repeated every six months.

Biggers is president of the Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Company.

If he takes the job he will co-operate with a federal committee composed of the secretaries of commerce and labor, the works progress administration, the chairman of the social security board, the director of the census, and the head of the central statistical board.

CALLS SEVENTY FIFTH CONGRESS WILD JAMBOREE

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 9.—(AP)—Robert L. Johnson, president of the national civil service reform league, assailed the 75th congress as having been on a "reckless patronage jamboree" in a message read at the National Federation of Federal Employees convention today.

"The congress demonstrated that its real concern was in extending the spoils system upward, downward and outward, with a snap of the fingers for the public," Johnson's message read.

"The merit system was riddled by bill after bill carrying clauses or 'riders,' exempting employees from the civil service law requirements."

Johnson said a deliberate attempt had been made to make some of these riders and clauses sound "innocent enough to the average layman," so they could be "slipped over in important legislation which could not well be vetoed."

"We must show congress that the 'spoils system' is no longer good business; that it will cost them more votes than they can buy. And we must hearten and support those of our representatives who are truly trying to carry out their pledges and make our government service an honorable career."

breach between Russia and Italy. Both British and French said the Mediterranean piracy question was removed from the hands of the Spanish civil war non-intervention committee to get action.

Germany and Italy, in their notes today asked that the matter be referred to this non-intervention committee.

Such a solution was described as "completely unacceptable" to France and Britain.

French anger over the shooting down of a commercial plane of the Air Pyrenees company, reported as the work of a Spanish insurgent air squadron Tuesday over Gijon, Spain, threatened fresh complications for the present maze.

SOVIET ADAMANT

Moscow, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Official Soviet circles voiced strong objection today to the Italo-German suggestion that the problem of Mediterranean piracy be put up to the 27-nation Spanish non-intervention committee.

"That long-suffering body has been the arena for sabotage activity of the Italo-German Fascist aggressors," one source asserted.

With the "anti-piracy" conference sponsored by France and Britain only a day off, the Soviet Union still was awaiting their explanation of why Germany was invited among 10 other powers.

Russia's acceptance of the conference all asked that question of France and Britain, arguing that Germany with no Mediterranean coast had no justifiable concern in Mediterranean affairs.

It was said in London that naval attacks on German warships in the western Mediterranean—the type of incident Britain and France wish to prevent—were among the reasons for the invitation to Germany.

Germany charged Spanish government submarines tried to torpedo the cruiser Leipzig last June. Twenty-three seamen had been killed on the pocket battleship Deutschland in a Spanish government air attack about two weeks before.

FACES LARCENY CHARGE

Lonoke, Ark.—(AP)—Bernice Felton, 18, of Rockford, Ill., traveling companion of "crime tourist" Lester Brockelhurst, now faces a charge of grand larceny. Brockelhurst was convicted and Miss Felton acquitted in June on charges of first-degree murder in connection with the hitchhike slaying of Victor A. Gates of Little Rock. The larceny charge filed against the young woman was based on the alleged theft of Gates' automobile and watch.

Warner, grand trustee of the Grand Lodge of Elks; the Dixon lodge; the Illinois department of public welfare; and the Lee County Medical Society.

Dr. Robert C. Lonergan of Evanston will be the clinician and Dr. Paul Harmon, superintendent of the department of handicapped children of the state health department, will be present. Assistance is being rendered by Chester Barriage, exalted ruler of the Dixon lodge of Elks; and Dr. H. J. McCoy, president of the Lee County Medical Society.

Children wishing to attend the clinic and receive its benefits must be accompanied by their physician, visiting nurse or an Elks; or have a written request from their physician, it was announced.

Chicago Daily News Religious Editor To Deliver Sermon

Rev. William F. McDermott, religious editor of the Chicago Daily News, will preach at the Dixon Presbyterian church, next Sunday morning. A wide experience as police reporter, editor, writer and clergyman has given Mr. McDermott a wealth of human interest and insight into problems of the day. He is in constant demand as a speaker and his magazine articles have attracted wide attention.

The service at which Mr. McDermott will speak will open at 10:45 A. M. next Sunday morning. Special song numbers will be sung by Mrs. Roy Beeler of Oak Park, Ill.

A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend this interesting service.

The church dinner and retreat formerly announced for Sunday noon have been postponed until a later date during the coming week. Watch for further announcement.

LOCAL FARMERS TAKE PART IN EROSION TOUR

Spend Day In Study Of Methods To Check
Top Soil Loss

Sixty farm leaders from Lee and Ogle counties yesterday participated in all-day tour in the two counties to study soil erosion control methods. The tour was arranged by the extension service of the Illinois college of agriculture, the United States soil conservation service and the farm advisers of the two counties. As a result of the tour the farmers appeared to be thoroughly convinced that erosion is the thief which will rob the soil of its fertility unless farmers use practices to control it.

At the F. F. Coffman farm in German Valley, Ogle county, the members of the tour were shown the results of strip cropping on the contour to control erosion. Mr. Coffman told the visitors that he was satisfied with this method of farming and had, in co-operation with the federal soil conservation service, laid out a four-year plan for his farm. His strips this year were oats and corn, laid out in a manner designed to check the washing away of the top soil.

At the Frank Scholl farm in Palmyra township, Lee county, the visitors were shown the terrace method of soil erosion control. Mr. Scholl began the building of terraces on his rolling farm land nearly 10 years ago and told the visitors that the crop yield is just as large as if the entire field were planted, and that soil erosion had been reduced materially. Mr. Scholl uses an electric fence to keep farm animals out of his fields.

The tour stopped at noon for lunch at the university experiment field west of Dixon. Here they were shown results to date of an interesting experiment designed to show the effects of the loss of top soil and of methods used to restore fertility to the soil. Dr. F. A. Bauer and A. L. Lang of the soil department of the University of Illinois explained the purpose of the experiment and showed the farmers three plots of corn used for the tests.

Top Soil Essential

One plot with normal top soil was producing a good stand of corn. In another plot eight to 10 inches of soil had been removed and this stand showed some lack of color and a poorer quality of corn was indicated, while in the third plot 18 to 20 inches of soil had been removed, and this was producing the poorest crop of the three plots. In each plot also was shown the results of different treatments of the soil designed to restore fertility. This experiment will be carried on for some years. Results to date, however, show that loss of top soil means poorer crops.

At the W. S. Boynton farm west of Dixon the tour party was shown the problem farm of the day. Here the soil is of the yellow-gray silt loam type, the land rolling and badly gullied. Much of the afternoon was spent going over this farm and in discussions led by university speakers as to ways and means of control of erosion and restoration of fertility. Speakers were R. C. Hay of the agricultural engineering department; H. A. de Werff of the soil department and Prof. M. L. Mosher of the agricultural economics department. Farm Advisers C. E. Yale of Lee county and D. E. Warren of Ogle county and Walter Turner, engineer of the federal soil conservation service in the Peoria district, who laid out the strip contour plan for the Coffman farm, also spoke at some of the stops.

Those Participated

Those participating in the tour included W. S. Boynton, F. F. Coffman, Frank W. Scholl, Gustave Engelhardt, Compton; H. V. Massey, Dixon hardware dealer, and B. Hoelscher, operator of Mr. Massey's farm; John C. Craft, Rochelle; Bernard Hackeher, Dixon; Carl C. Straw, Dixon; Lee R. Pisel, Franklin Grove; John Dimmig, Harmon; W. S. Sanford, Ashton; Fred E. ## HOLSTEIN STATE OFFICIALS MEET HERE NEXT WEEK

To Decide If Illinois Convention Shall Go To Dixon

Members of the executive committee of the Illinois Holstein association will be guests of the Rock River Valley Holstein Breeders' association at a luncheon in Dixon early next week, at which time it will undoubtedly be decided if the state association will hold its convention in Dixon next winter. The convention last winter was held at Freeport and attracted more than 400 Holstein breeders and members of their families.

It is understood Dixon can obtain the convention if it is able to provide a banquet hall to accommodate about 400 persons. The Rock River Valley association, made up of breeders from Lee, Ogle, Bureau and Whiteside counties, had the largest representation at the Freeport convention and probably will be permitted to decide the place for holding the next state convention. Dixon is favored if proper accommodations can be provided here.

The district Holstein associations which put on Black and White shows this year, including the Rock River Valley association, are to select a herd for exhibition at the Dairy Cattle Congress to be held at Waterloo, Iowa, during the week of September 27 to October 3, and the local association is to be represented in this herd of ten animals.

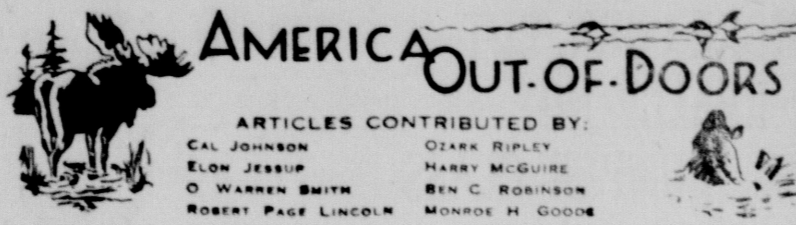

Robert Degner, son of Roi Degner of Amboy, secretary-treasurer of the local association, will show his junior yearling Holstein calf which won first prize at the Illinois state fair and at several county fairs. Elmswood and Mooseheart breeders also will be represented in this show herd.

May Whip Georgia Chaingang Fugitives

Atlanta, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Gunfire and whipping of unruly convicts were advocated at a meeting of Georgia prison wardens to stop chaingang breaks which Governor E. D. Rivers said had reached "scandalous" proportions.

The wardens, by vote, decided to meet future escape attempts with gunfire. The vote followed a ruling by Attorney General M. J. Yeomans that guards could use "such force as may be necessary" to prevent escape of felony prisoners.

The return of the lash to Georgia prison camps—abolished in 1923—must await either legislative action or a legal study by Yeomans.

CAN WOMEN TAKE CANOE TRIPS?

By Sig Olson

For a long time, it has been the consensus of opinion that the canoe trip idea was entirely for men. To think that women might go in for that sort of thing was to invite the guffaws and ridicule of any group of pseudo explorers. It just wasn't the thing to do, somehow it wasn't quite sporting to think of taking them along. Of course there were always exceptions. Mrs. Martin Johnson, Amelia Earhart and a few others, but for the ordinary run of femininity, it just wouldn't work out. Women were barred from the joys of portaging and paddling, the hardships and the joys of wilderness camping were not for them and for years, the men of our land had a corner on one of the most delightful forms of recreation our continent affords.

During the course of some twenty years of guiding and outfitting canoe parties, however, I have seen a gradual change creep in to the old set up. Instead of trips being composed entirely of men, I have seen a good many women and girls head north into the canoe country. After we had seen a number of mixed parties go in and return without mishap after we had seen them in action on lakes and rivers, after we had compared notes with them on their return, we finally came to the conclusion that women were getting just as big a thrill out of it as the men and what was more the men seemed to get a wallop out of having them along.

Of course there are canoe trips and canoe trips. There are many that women could never enjoy, back breaking ventures of exploration reserved for only the toughest and hardest of men, but there are also many easy and pleasant routes requiring little hard work where there are no inhuman stretches of paddling in the teeth of a gale, none of the femininely impossible stints, where women can really enjoy themselves.

As far as the actual work is concerned, women and girls have repeatedly demonstrated that they can hold up their end of it satisfactorily. Paddling is never a great strain, and as soon as they get the knack of swinging their stroke, it does not take much effort. On the portages women are not expected to carry heavy equipment. Leave that to the guides and men of the party. There are always small bothersome loose articles of equipment to take care of, cameras, fishing tackle, paddles, personal bags, etc., which they can take care of, and which the men are glad to be relieved of at the time. Around camp, they don't have to get the wood, pitch the tents or do the packing, but they can make the beds, assist with the cooking and keep the camp polished. There is always a certain amount of housekeeping on any canoe trip into the wilds where women can be extremely helpful.

As far as clothing is concerned, the averaged woman has plenty of choice, but if she is wise, she will dress as much like her men folk as possible, straight trousers instead of breeches, regular cruising boots instead of the parade variety, a wind and water proof jacket of some type and an old floppy felt hat is enough. With that sort of an outfit and, of course, the little un-masculine things without which no woman can venture even into the wilds, there is reason why women shouldn't fit into the picture.

The old days are gone and when someone pops the question, "Can women take canoe trips?", I know all of the answers. They certainly can and do and what is more they like it. Today the outfitting posts along the international border can supply you with everything you need to make you happy and comfortable in the wilds. Now if the family is interested in doing something different and men folk have the urge to hit the back trails, the thing to do is lead for the canoe trails.

SMALL MOUTH BASS IN JULY AND AUGUST

By Robert Page Lincoln
It can be said with every degree of truth that whereas the large mouth bass is generally considered a fish that is taken with the bait rod and various plug and live lures, the small mouth bass is taken with almost equal ease with the fly rod and various fly rod lures. It is an interesting fact to state that those fishermen who have followed up small mouth bass fishing almost entirely by means of the bait rod but have never tried out the fly rod have left out of the picture one of the finest and deadliest methods for use on this fish that has ever been originated.

The feeding habits of the small mouth bass in July is, to some extent, much the same as that of the large mouth. That is to say they feed early, whether in the streams or in the lakes, and then retire to the depths. The best times are from daybreak on to about 6 o'clock the only difference being that on grey or rainy days they are likely to be found inshore much of the day. This is especially true with those small mouths found in the stream. Keep your eyes open for those rainy days on the lake or stream. No fish is more alert to come inshore to hunt food than the small mouth on such days. The trickles and rivulets of waters wash food into the water or brushes and various insect life from the foliage into the lake or stream. To pass up the rainy days is to leave out of the picture the finest fishing times in this month.

While it is certain that the various bass bug lures are universally effective in small mouth bass fishing, and should always be carried on a trip, it will be found that various spinners and flies are often the best fly rod lures that can be found. These flies should preferably have no stiff, upstanding wing feathers, which give them an unnatural action in the water. The flies should have no wings at all, just the inch-long hackles at the head. The fly should preferably be tied to the regulation, standard No. 1-0 hook, preferably the O'Shaughnessy hook. The fly is attached to a shaft, which same shaft carries a spinner either a half inch or an inch in length. Generally flies and spinners come made up, and in several finishes. The gold and nickel plating is mostly used. It will be found that both of these are effective, the highly polished, gold plated spinner being the best. The most effective pattern used by the writer fishing everywhere in the small mouth bass streams of the country, is the Yellow Sally. The Brown Hackle, White Miller and Professor are also good flies in this class. In dark water and in evening fishing it is quite difficult to better upon the Yellow Sally, when worked up around the rocks in the inshore waters where the fish are seeking their food.

While the fly rod lure, either bass bug or spinner and fly are the safest bets in inshore small mouth bass fishing, there is no gainsaying the fact that the bait rod and various plug lures will take many bass, in fact most of the record small mouth bass of the country are taken on plugs. The pike type of lure, also the hinged-in-sections minnow; also the in-jure dor wounded type of minnow-plug are most useful in taking this game fish. One thing that should be remembered in small mouth bass fishing is that too heavy lures are "out" so far as the small mouth is concerned. The more slender lures are much more effective.

Star Chorus Going Social in Hollywood

Adding that perfect tone to a recent Hollywood party were these five famous concert and screen singers. Guests at the affair, given by the Basil Rathbones in honor of newlywedded Mary Pickford and Buddy Rogers, and Jeanette MacDonald and Gene Raymond, agreed that this collection of songsters was one of the most noteworthy in Hollywood history. Left to right, holding the spotlight, are Lily Pons, Jeanette MacDonald, Grace Moore, John McCormack and Gladys Swarthout.

When the small mouth bass are found in deep water, as during the heat of July, still fishing for them, using live lures, is often the only manner by which they can be reached. In the lakes they seem to hunt out the deep bottom springs. If such are to be found in a lake, one can return there time after time and take many a limit of the fine fellows. Even better than frogs, it will be found that the freshwater crab or crayfish is the nemesis of this fish. To understand why this is so the small mouth bass fisherman must remember that the small mouth bass has one food failing and that is the crab. Give a small mouth bass a crab and he is happy. As a matter of fact, it is almost certain that this fish never does well unless the water it lives in contains this evil-looking watery denizen with the menacing nippers. So when you are deep fishing, just attach a crab to the hook and let it down to the bottom. In fact let it lay on the bottom. The next move is on the part of the small mouth and will be ever gobble it up with vim. I've given you the kink. Now go and do likewise!

Note to readers: This department will gladly answer any question you may have to ask about hunting, fishing, trap-shooting or other outdoor activities. Send your questions, together with a stamped and addressed envelope for your reply, to North American Sportsman's Bureau, Wrigley Bldg., Chicago.

Continued Prosperity Is Foreseen by Dawes

Chicago, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Former Vice President Charles G. Dawes, chairman of the Board of the City National Bank and Trust Company, said he foresaw "a continuance of satisfactory general business conditions despite recent stock price recessions."

"I see no indications in business of a lack of confidence," General Dawes said, "and I expect to see business conditions continue satisfactory this year and next."

As to the lack of buying power in the stock market, the former Vice President said "such setbacks on speculative markets in times of prosperity are to be expected."

NEW LAW ENDS DELAY IN TAX COLLECTIONS

Washington, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Illinois appears free to levy and collect state taxes without fear of delay through federal injunction, under a new law on the nation's statute books.

The law, passed by the last Congress, withdraws from U. S. district courts the privilege of entertaining "any suit to enjoin, suspend, or restrain the assessment, levy or collection of any tax imposed by or pursuant to the laws of any state where a plain, speedy, and efficient remedy may be had at law or in equity in the courts of such state."

The law was proposed by Senator Homer T. Bone of Washington and was backed by the attorneys general of 17 states, including Illinois. It was intended to end delay, brought about by federal injunctions, in the collection of state taxes. President Roosevelt signed the Bone bill August 21 after the House and Senate passed it unanimously.

None of the new act's provisions affects "suits commenced in the district courts, either originally or by removal," prior to its passage. Such suits will be "continued, proceedings therein had, appeals therein taken and judgments therein rendered, in the same manner as if this act had not been passed."

Favorable report on the Bone bill by Senator Tom Connally of Texas said that the practice of federal courts in entertaining tax injunctions against state officers "makes it possible for foreign corporations doing business in such states to withhold from them and their governmental subdivisions, taxes in such amounts and for such long periods of time as to seriously disrupt state and county finances."

"The pressing needs of these states for this tax money is so great," the report said, "that in many instances they have been compelled to compromise their suits, as a result of which substantial portions of the tax have been lost to the states without a judicial examination into the real merits of the controversy."

GOEBBELS FLAYS COMMUNISM AS WORLD MENACE

Says Bolshevism Is Illegitimate Child of Democracy

Nurnberg, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Nazi Germany's little propaganda minister, Paul Joseph Goebbels, declared before National Socialism's annual congress today that a new Europe is being formed "for which we will fight to the last breath" against Communism.

Dr. Goebbels brought all his powers of invective into play—some of them against Americans and "degraded" democracies—a few hours after Germany had decided she could not sit down at a Mediterranean conference table with other powers so long as Soviet Russia, which has accused Fascist Italy of sinking her ships, would be there.

He warned Europe and the democracies that "Spain is the world's crossroads" and added:

"What happens today in Spain may repeat itself tomorrow in any country!"

Then he screamed that the establishment of "a Communist power" in western Europe "cannot be tolerated."

"Some leading American democratic political personages," Goebbels shouted, sympathize with the Spanish government.

"If it is not scoundrelly and despicable," he cried, "to travel with this terrible world danger, then it is a case of gross stupidity to which one might apply the gospel prayer: 'God, forgive them, for they know not what they do.'"

He spoke then of the democracies which, he said, persisted in "deluding themselves" that the Spanish insurgency was a bid for power by reactionary generals.

"That idea," he said, is the "devilish" work of Moscow, and "nations which close their eyes to this menace will some day suffer a terrible awakening."

Says Democracy Doomed

On the eve of a visit to the Nazi party congress by representatives of the world's three leading democracies, officials denied today that attacks on that form of government would be shushed to spare them embarrassment.

Democracy already has been linked with Bolshevism in a principal address. Dr. Alfred Rosenberg, Nazi ideological leader and recipient of one of Germany's new "Nobel" prizes, called Bolshevism the "illegitimate child" of democracy and said democracy was doomed.

The forthcoming visit by representatives of the United States, France and Great Britain constituted the first acceptance of invitations to the party rally by the larger democratic countries.

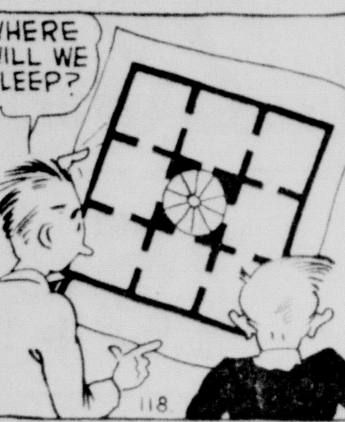

Prentiss B. Gilbert, U. S. charge d'affaires at the Berlin embassy, and Andre Francois-Poncet and Sir Neville Meyrick Henderson, the French and British ambassadors, were scheduled to leave Berlin for Nurnberg tonight.

Sir Neville, whom the Nazis consider the friendliest British ambassador since Adolf Hitler came to power, took the lead in accepting this year's bid.

There were reports some time ago that assurances had been given to the United States, France and Britain that no anti-democratic attacks would be made if their diplomatic representatives came to Nurnberg. This was flatly denied today.

Brain Twizzlers

By PROF. J. D. FLINT

One weekend at a big university the homecoming football game was to take place. One fraternity house was in a turmoil trying to straighten out the rooming problem.

A certain number of guests were expected and the rules were that eleven persons must sleep on each side of the house and twice as many must be on the second floor as on the first. Every room must be occupied and not more than three people could occupy a room. The house was square with eight square rooms of the same size on each of the two floors and a spiral staircase running up the center.

Arrangements were completed for the number expected but when the guests arrived there were three extra. They were accommodated without violation of the rules. What was the room arrangement and how many guests were there?

As 1500 Pairs of Twins Gathered at Convention

Your eyes aren't deceiving you, nor are the pictures above an example of double exposure photography. These are merely five of the 1500 pairs of twins who converged upon Fort Wayne, Ind., for the sixth annual convention of the National Twins Association. Top above are Homer Klopfenstein, left, and his brother Howard, 40-year-old twins of Graysville, Ind., who were adjudged the best-matched men. They are shown crowning Alta, left, and Alva Dank, 25, of Eldridge, Ia., chosen best matched among women. Left above are Rita Marie and Dolores Renee Hettler, 10, of New Hampton, Ia., believed to be the first twins born by Caesarian section in the United States. Right are Mrs. Harriet Cawby of North Judson, Ind., and Mrs. Henrietta Billings of Los Angeles, Calif., 81, and the oldest twins in attendance, shown holding the youngest, Jerry Lester and Larry Lynn Wolf, 4 months, of Fort Wayne.

PARTY REGRETS RESIGNATION OF SECY. MCGRADY

Washington, Sept. 9.—(AP)—The resignation of Edward F. McGrady as assistant secretary of labor created a second vacancy today in the ranks of Secretary Perkins' top-ranking aides.

Arthur J. Altmeyer, now chairman of the Social Security Board, resigned more than two years ago as an assistant secretary. President Roosevelt has left that vacancy unfilled.

Labor department officials said Secretary Perkins had not indicated when she might submit to the president names of a possible successor to McGrady. Informal sources said a prime requisite probably would be that the appointee be acceptable to both the American Federation of Labor and the Committee for Industrial Organization.

President Roosevelt announced McGrady's resignation yesterday at Hyde Park "with deep regret" and told the ace labor conciliator he had brought "great credit to yourself and the department."

Secretary Perkins, expressing personal and official regret at McGrady's departure, spoke of his "fairness, squareness, initiative, resourcefulness and perseverance." McGrady tomorrow will become labor relations adviser for the Radio Corporation of America and will maintain headquarters in New York City.

McGrady had been with the labor department since 1933. During NRA days he was "lent" to Hugh Johnson, National Recovery Administrator, as a labor adviser.

CHEMICAL MAY PREVENT MINE EXPLOSIONS

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 9.—(AP)—A "negative catalyst," a chemical to end mine explosions by poisoning the explosion before it can start, was seen as a future possibility today at the American Chemical society.

Two of these explosion poisoners are known. It was explained by Bernard Lewis, of the U. S. Bureau of Mines, at Pittsburgh, but they cannot be used because they also would poison men. The pair are a form of iodine known as an organic iodide and a bromide, which is unlike the well-known medicine.

"Whether mine and other explosions can be effectively inhibited," said Dr. Lewis, "by some such means as the addition of small amounts of substances acting as negative catalysts, remains to be answered in the future."

The most popular "negative catalyst" is the lead in gasoline. It slows down the explosion so that the engine will not knock.

The mechanism by which the air of an entire mine may be immunized to explosions was explained by Dr. Lewis. Mine explosions are not due directly to methane or fire-damp, but to chemical reactions that go on in these gases and the air.

An explosion comes when the methane forms formaldehydes and peroxides, which join with other particles to form highly explosive chains of particles.

Experiments at Pittsburgh have shown that a small amount of an inhibiting chemical in the mine air will choke the first of these particles, so that it expires without giving off its million-legged spawn.

U. S. SHIPS MAY STILL CALL AT SPAIN'S PORTS

Washington, Sept. 9.—(AP)—State department officials said today this government had not altered its refusal to recognize a blockade of Spanish seaports.

Officials said they had reason to believe that American ships carrying non-contraband cargoes had called at these ports, and would continue to ply Spanish waters.

There should be no interpretation of a change in policy, they said, from the Navy's warning to American mariners of "pirate" craft in the Mediterranean sea.

The warning, broadcast to every American vessel with radio receivers, said:

"American ships operating in the Mediterranean sea are warned that merchant vessels of various countries have recently been attacked in that sea by unidentified aircraft, surface vessels and submarines." Secretary Hull, kept busy for weeks by the Sino-Japanese crisis, disclosed he also had been following closely the Spanish-Mediterranean situation.

He said he had discussed it with the maritime commission officials and regarded it as a dangerous state of affairs rapidly growing more acute.

Secretary Roper, discussing the influence of war scares on business said uneasiness so far had affected only speculative trade. He added that the actual condition of business throughout the country is good and predicted there will be "a major upsurge in fall business."

Thirty members of the National Peace conference issued in New York a statement urging Hull to continue his cooperation with other nations to bring the Sino-Japanese conflict to an end.

CITIES TO ASK LEGISLATURE TO GIVE ASSISTANCE

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 9.—(AP)—The larger downstate cities will ask the state's help in getting out from under the new police and firemen's minimum wage legislation when the Illinois Municipal league holds its annual convention at Aurora next week.

They want Governor Horner to permit the legislature, if it is called into special session, to amend the new laws so that the wage increases won't be effective unless the voters approve.

No other major issue is expected to arise when Mayor Frank W. Brugemann of Harvey, president of the league, calls the convention to order the evening of September 14.

Described as a "graduate school of municipal administration," officials from the league's 70 member cities and villages will devote most of their time to the standard problems involving revenue collection, handling of utilities, law enforcement and sanitation.

Mayor Myron Lehman of Elgin will be the new president if the tradition of promoting the vice-president is followed.

A. D. McLarty, league secretary, said about 28 of the smaller municipalities are now levying the minimum tax of 87.5 cents on the $100 valuation permitted by law if the voters approve at a referendum.

All those over the 10,000 population mark, however, are still within the 66 2-3 non-referendum taxing limit, he said. The new laws affect only the larger downstate cities, requiring that police and firemen be paid $150 a month if the population is 10,000 or over and $175 a month if it has passed 25,000.

One way to test a dollar bill to see whether or not it is counterfeit is to rub it across a sheet of white paper. If the paper does not show green stains the bill is usually counterfeit.

African natives judge by the winds across the Sahara desert whether heavy rains will fall on the headwaters of the Nile and cause generous floods on the great river.

MORE CORN, BUT REALLY NOT IN 'BUMPER' CLASS

Claim Now Made Illinois Is To Yield First Place To Iowa

By PAUL D. SHOEMAKER
Associated Press Farm Editor
Chicago, Sept. 9.—(AP)—That bumper corn crop farmers were talking about two months ago isn't going to be bumper after all.

With the harvest season only a few weeks away crop experts said today it now looks like only a good sized crop—around 2,600,000,000 bushels. This would be over a billion bushels more than last year and the biggest yield since 1932, but it seems farmers like to reserve use of the term bumper for corn yields of upwards of three billion bushels.

Lack of rainfall in recent weeks over a goodly portion of the corn belt resulted in deterioration of the crop which five weeks ago was regarded in fine condition, a situation which paradoxically was believed to have had an effect on the yield. Favorable early growing conditions resulted in big, healthy plants and a portion of the available moisture when it became deficient necessarily went to maintain the large stalks and heavy foliage to the disadvantage of developing ears.

Iowa was expected to regain its position as the principal corn producing state this year. It was only a runnerup to Illinois in 1936. Iowa yield estimates were around 460,000,000 bushels, more than double the production of last year.

Illinois, with an estimated yield of close to 398,000,000 bushels, will rank second in production this year. The crop, however, suffered for want of moisture and examination of maturing ears show lack of uniform development.

GERMAN GIRLS TAKE PART IN NAZI CONGRESS

Nurnberg, Germany, Sept. 9.—(AP)—German girls made their debut at the Nazi Party Congress, 600 of them marching before Reichsfuehrer Hitler with 40,000 husky male spade carriers from the compulsory labor service.

It was the first time the girls had taken part in a parade at a party rally. The marching maidens, with another 600 of their sisters, are quartered in a tent city here. They are from 18 to 20 years old.

It was labor service day at the Nazi conclave and Hitler confined himself to domestic affairs in a brief address to a youthful throng on Zeppelin field. One hundred thousand spectators jammed into the grandstands there to see the first big spectacle of the week.

This year's parade, however, was curtailed by the harvest season, for thousands of labor service men had been delegated to help farmers.

Loud cheers greeted Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels last night when he re-read a decree of Jan. 31, last, forbidding Germans to accept Nobel prizes. In the audience were the elite of Nazi and Reich scientists and artists. Hitler alone now decides each year who shall have three German awards substituting for the Nobel prizes.

One of this year's $40,000 awards went to Dr. Alfred Rosenberg, official philosopher of National Socialism. The second similar award was split between Prof. August Bier, surgical pioneer, and Prof. Edward Ferdinand Sauerbruch, famed for his achievements in lung operations.

The third prize of the same amount, went to Dr. Wilhelm Fliedner, leader of several explorations to Mongolia and Tibet.

New Rules

State Finance Dept. Credited by State Teachers' Assn.

Springfield, Ill.—"To balance a budget, double the deficit" is a new rule of arithmetic discovered by the State Department of Finance. So says Robert C. Moore in an editorial in the September Illinois Teacher, which is today being mailed to the 43,000 members of the Illinois Education Association.

Mr. Moore explains by saying that last May the Department of Finance prepared, and through the Governor, presented to the General Assembly a State Budget that showed a deficit of $3,589,098, although it made no provision for any increase in the state school fund for which there was a strong state-wide demand, so that funds could be distributed to high schools on the same basis as to the grades. The Governor and his supporters in the legislature often referred to this deficit when opposing any increase for schools.

Despite the fact that the appropriations actually made for other purposes exceeded the budget estimate made for other purposes the budget estimate by an additional $3,530,439, increasing the total deficit to a little over $7,000,000, the Director of the Department of Finance now says that "a balanced budget, in spite of excess appropriations, is entirely possible of attainment." Hence to balance a budget, double the deficit.

Reporting on acts by the Governor, Moore says that he vetoed a bill giving reasonably adequate relief to financially distressed high schools and approved one giving relief to a very few high schools. Although he approved a bill permitting the Chicago district to levy at a largely increased rate without referendum, he vetoed similar bills permitting higher school tax rates in certain downstate cities and in unit districts.

The report says also that a large majority of the members of the legislature were convinced that the State must provide financial relief for the schools, as was shown by their votes when left free to act. But the powerful pressure of the State Administration defeated some state-wide school revenue bills, and the Governor's veto killed three bills providing additional funds for downstate schools.

SEEK TO END GROWING CASES OF ALCOHOLISM

Boston, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Condy here suggested special hospital sumed the proportions of "a great chronic emergency," a medical study today suggested special hospital wards, and general education, to combat the problem.

Fifty thousand cases of alcoholism, admitted to the Boston City hospital since its founding in 1864, formed the basis of the study. One of the findings was that, while more cases were admitted to the hospital during prohibition than ever before, the number has increased still further since repeal.

The findings, the authors of the study say, indicate that alcoholism is a disease requiring treatment "as a major scientific problem."

Released in the New England Journal of Medicine, the study was made under the auspices of the hospital, backed by a WPA grant. Dr. Merrill Moore, associate in psychiatry, Harvard Medical school, supervised the work.

The authors have not reached a final conclusion on remedies for the problem but, they say, indications point to a staff and wards in a hospital designed solely for alcoholic patients. They also advocate an educational campaign.

Methodist Church
H. C. Butterbaugh, Pastor

Vacation days are over and the children have returned to school.
The weather is cool. A new church year is starting. These are reasons why you should come out again to Sunday school and worship service. There really should be few excuses for staying home.

10 a. m.—Sunday school.

11 a. m.—Worship service.

2:30 p. m.—Afternoon session of the third annual North District Church Council convention.

5:30 p. m.—Social and supper hour. Bring covered dish, sandwiches and table service. Coffee, cream and sugar supplied.

6:30 p. m.—Young People's session.

7:45 p. m.—Evening session.

Tomorrow evening, Friday, Sept.
10, at 7:30 o'clock there will be an important official board meeting at the parsonage.

North District of Bureau Church
Council Rally

You are heartily invited to attend the annual meeting of the above organization which will be held on Sunday, Sept. 12, in Lamoille Methodist church, at 2:30 p. m. and 7:45
p. m.

Rev. E. F. Muir, pastor of the Princeton Baptist church, will be the speaker at both sessions; business, including the election of officers for the coming year will be transacted.

"What We Didn't Do"

A little boy was admiring the flowers in a neighbor's garden. To his mother he said, "Who makes the flowers?" "God makes them," replied the mother. "Why don't we have any flowers then?" asked the boy. "Because we don't plant any seeds," was the mother's sad reply.

No one needs to be a preacher to make a sermon out of that story, so we will not rob you of the plea-

Sunday: Unified service of worship and study, 10 a. m. Sermon theme, "Christians: First and Second Class." No evening service;
see notice of North District rally in Methodist church.

Thursday: Midweek service reopens, 7:30 p. m. Beginning a new series of Bible studies to which all are invited.

LETTERS

Such a little thing—a letter.
Yet so much it may contain:
Written thoughts and mute expressions.

Full of pleasure, fraught with pain.
When our hearts are sad at parting.
Comes a gleam of comfort bright
In the mutual promise given:
"We will not forget to write."

Plans and doings of the absent.
Scrap of news we like to hear.
All reminds us, even though distant,
Kind remembrance keeps us near.

Yet sometimes a single letter
Turns the sunshine into shade:
Chills our efforts, clouds our prospects
Brights our hopes, and makes them fade.

Messenger of joy or sorrow.
Life or death, success, despair,
Bearers of affections, wishes,
Greeting, kind or loving prayer.

Prayer or greeting, were we present.
Would be felt but half unsaid:
We can write, because our letters,
Not our faces, will be read.

Who has not some treasured letters,
Fragments choice of others' lives,
Relics, some of friends departed,
Friends whose memory still survives?

Touched by neither time nor distance.
Will their words unspoken last:
Voiceless whispers of the present,
Silent echoes of the past?

Mrs. Charles Florabelle Throop
Grand Detour, Illinois.

Psychologists say infants have no ingrained fear of such things

Monkey's Grouch
Major Problem To
His Zoo Keepers

Chicago, Sept. 9.—(AP)—The mystery of why Joe the Gibbon didn't greet his third with a poke on the snout has been solved.

Joe's bride, introduced to him as Charlotte, a slugging spouse from New York, on arrival here last week, should have been named

Charlie for it was that kind of monkey.

Edward Dean, director of the Brookfield zoo where Joe Walloped
Brookfield zoo where Joe Walloped
ness and separation, said apparently the dealer sent the male gibbon by mistake. His son, Robert, went to New York to make sure a fighting female is sent in Charlie's place.

The director said it was "very likely" the two gibbons got along well together because they were of the same sex. When the two sat down to meals at the same table last week neither made a pass at the other, which was something of a record for Joe.

Joe's hard hearted handling of his former wives prompted the zoo officials to advertise for a mate that could hold her own with Joe.
The New York dealer agreed to supply one.

inherits a yacht for vacation.
MELITA HOWARD—Kay's
roommate and co-adventurer.
PRISCILLA BURN—the third adventurer.
FORREST BROTHERS and GRANT HARPER—young scientists whose expedition turned out to be a rare experience.

Yesterday the search is intensified when Grant Harper fails to return after he went ashore to find Kay.

CHAPTER XII

THE two girls quickly followed Tom Forrest into the speedboat's cockpit.

"Hadden't you better stay aboard
the yacht?" he asked.

Melita shook her head stubbornly. "We're going with you."

"That's probably the best plan," Mac agreed. "No telling what might happen if we leave them on the 'Mistral' alone. That fellow seems to be everywhere at once.
Hang on a minute, Tom. I'm going to grab up a couple of revolvers from the cabin."

His brother stepped on the starter, bringing the motor to life with a roar. "Good idea!"
In a moment Mac was back, two belts and holsters in his hand. He leaped over the rail and handed one to Tom Forrest. "Let's go..."

After leaving Mac Forrest in the speedboat at the north end of the island, Grant Harper skirted closely along the wood. He wished now he had not left the "Mistral" in such a hurry, for he was completely unarmed, and the more he considered the story Melita had related the more certain he was that Kay Dearborn was in real danger.

Since that casual glimpse of her in Fairweather Cove he had carried a mental picture of Kay, trim and frank and eager at the wheel of the little "Chinook." He remembered, too, the clear and pleasant voice which drifted out to him over the waters of the cove that night.

As the "Mistral" bore on north,
he had noticed lightly to Mac and Tom Forrest that he wished they had stayed longer at Fairweather Cove. Long enough to really become acquainted with the skipper and crew of the little cruiser. The Forrest brothers had gazed him as part of the game, although they knew Grant Harper to be a serious fellow whose work was both his livelihood and his play. They never dreamed that Kay Dearborn had in reality struck something in Grant's heart.

Now as he skirted the edge of the wood in search of Kay Dearborn, he realized that he was in love with her. He knew he would willingly risk his life for her.

HE had not gone far when he saw the little "Chinook" anchored close to the shore. Although there was no visible sign of life aboard, Harper removed his jacket and shoes and waded into the water. As quietly as possible he swam toward the cruiser and heaved himself aboard. A quick examination showed her to be deserted—and told him nothing to solve the mystery of what had happened to Kay Dearborn. His jaw set grimly, Harper dove back into the water and swam to shore in swift, powerful strokes.

Hurriedly getting into his shoes, he struck on down the beach, determined now to search every square foot of the island until he had found the girl he sought. Mac Forrest and the waiting speedboat were forgotten. So definite and determined was his purpose that everything else was shut out.

Within an hour he had traveled almost the entire east shore of the island, and now he started out across its headlands of the growing dusk. Remembering the cabin, he decided that Kay's captor would be likely to take her there. As much as the thick growth would permit, he increased his pace, hoping he would be able to find the spot before nightfall.

He was stumbling madly along in the underbrush when something white and moving caught his eye suddenly. He ran faster, saw the object ahead disappear.
And then, a hundred yards on, he found Kay Dearborn, prone and cowering. When she looked up from the depression into which she had stumbled in her fright, when she saw that her pursuer was Grant Harper, she began to weep hysterically.

He leaped down, lifted her gently against his shoulder. "Thank God I've found you," he whispered huskily. "Are you all right? Are you hurt?"

"Yes..." She told him what had happened after leaving Melita and Priscilla on shore and boarded the "Chinook."

"You're all right now," Harper told her soothingly. "We can't be far from where the 'Mistral' is anchored—and your friends are safe aboard." Carefully he helped her to her feet. "Do you think you can make it?"

Kay smiled. "I—I think so."

He looked down at her sneakers, torn to shreds by the underbrush.
"Good Lord! You'll have to wear my shoes. You can't get anywhere in those."

"What about you?"

Grant Harper laughed. "I never had a pair of shoes until I was 17 or 18. That's my success story and I'll stick to it. Anyhow, my feet are plenty tough." He was down on one knee, unlacing a shoe.

"You may splash around in these sneakers—but they'll be better than those open-work sandals you have on. Poor kid! You must have had the devil's own time there for a while!"

"I've never been so frightened in my life," Kay confessed. "I—I really wanted to die... quickly.
It's awful not to know what's going to happen to you."

Harper's eyes narrowed. "I'll get that man if it's the last thing I do."

"Oh, no!..." Kay put a hand on his arm. "Let's just get away

STORIES IN STAMPS

Cloth Hall of Ypres May Be Restored

The fortunes of history smiled on Belgium's Ypres when it attained its zenith at the beginning of the 14th century. A city of 200,000, it surpassed London and Paris at the time. Ypres was the rendezvous of Old World merchants and its magnificent Cloth Hall was the symbol of its power.

One of the most notable of all Gothic structures was the Cloth Hall, begun in 1201 and completed in 1304. An enormous edifice, following the general contour of the letter "H", this hall was the center of the city's great trade in cloth. Its main floor housed the drapers and its second the offices and rooms of the great merchants. The hall boasted a 150-foot facade broken by a central tower rising 230 feet. Forty-eight square-topped doors gave entrance to the mart and light was afforded by a row of quatrefoil windows with pointed arches. The upper floor had glazed windows. Built of soft stone, it was the wonder of the ages.

And then — 1914. The Germans destroyed Ypres and the Cloth Hall became crumbling ruins. But now Ypres plans a restoration. The hall appears on a Belgium stamp of 1915.

Carrying Torn Bodies Away in Sheets

Carrying the broken and torn bodies of the dead out of the streets in sheets and blankets, as shown above, Shanghai's volunteer corps followed the death-tattered paths about the bombarded city as the fiercest battles of the Chinese-Japanese conflict raged there. These helmeted rescue workers were photographed by an American refugee who was evacuated soon afterward.

A Wounded Chinese Crawling Toward Safety

A wounded Chinese soldier in a blood-drenched Shanghai street, lifted his head and crawled painfully toward the curb as an American, later evacuated, photographed this scene. In the background a soldier sprays water over flaming autos and wreckage, ignited by the bombs that air raiders dropped out of the skies on hundreds of non-combatants.
